

PARADE SCENES — The annual Halloween parade was staged in downtown Washington C. H. Saturday morning. A somewhat disappointing crowd despite chilly but good weather conditions lined downtown streets to observe the annual event which began at 9:30 a.m. The line of march traveled through the central business district to Gardner Park Stadium where the sponsoring Washington C. H. Jaycees awarded prizes for the masqueraded youngsters who participated. Results of the judging will be announced Monday. The parade was the first to be staged during the morning hours, since in the past the parade has always been held during the evening or in the afternoon. Hank Shaffer, director of the Community Education program, served as the parade grand marshal.

Four bombs rock Manhattan banks

NEW YORK (AP) — Four thunderous bomb explosions directed at major banks hit mid-Manhattan early today. A militant Puerto Rican group claimed responsibility for the blasts.

The bombs were triggered within a half hour of each other in a four-block area, the first at 2:55 a.m. Jagged glass flew for hundreds of feet, but no injuries were reported, police said.

Police confirmed that all the explosions were caused by bombs placed on outside window ledges.

"It was a bomb — definitely a bomb," said Police Lt. Edward Cash at the scene of the first blast at the Banco de Ponce at 49th Street and Rockefeller Plaza.

Police said there was no advance warning.

The three other explosions hit a Chemical Bank branch office in the Exxon building at 49th Street and Avenue of the Americas, the Union Carbide Building at 48th Street and Park Avenue and Lever House at 53rd Street and Park Avenue.

A fifth bomb, placed in a car in the Wall Street area, destroyed the automobile and blew out plate glass windows in five nearby banks. No injuries were reported.

Police would not definitely link this explosion to the other four, but said that a connection was likely.

A woman who did not give her name told The Associated Press in a telephone call about 3:40 a.m. that the explosions were the work of a Puerto Rican nationalist organization.

"We have just bombed imperialist banks," she said. "Free all Puerto Rican political prisoners."

She directed the news agency to a letter which had been placed in a telephone booth at 73rd Street and Broadway. The letter was signed the "Central Command" of the "Armed Forces of Puerto Rican National Liberation."

It demanded the release of five Puerto Ricans who are federal prisoners: Oscar Collazo, Lolita Lebron, Rafael Cancel Miranda, Andres Figueroa Cordero and Irving Flores.

Collazo was one of two Puerto Rican nationalists who attempted to assassinate President Harry S. Truman on Nov. 1, 1950. The other four fired more than 20 pistol shots from a spectators' gallery in the U.S. House of Representatives on March 1, 1954, while shouting "Freedom for Puerto Rico." Five congressmen were wounded.

The letter from the militant group said in part:

"The corporations we bombed are an integral part of yanki monopoly capitalism.... The Puerto Rican people are organizing an army in order to form Peoples Revolutionary Army which will rid Puerto Rico of yanki colonialism. We have opened two fronts, one in Puerto Rico and the other in the United States...."

An acrid smoke followed the explosions and Cash said: "The bombs were probably made from some form of gun powder, possibly dynamite."

Former governor at luncheon here

Gilligan 'tax mismanagement' rapped by Rhodes in speech

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Former Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes pounced on Democratic Governor John J. Gilligan for mismanagement of tax revenues Friday in Fayette County as he rounded into the last lap of his campaign.

Rhodes, who spoke at a $25-a-plate ham sandwich luncheon in the Mahan Building, was over 30 minutes late for the affair but blasted Gilligan in his 20-minute speech.

Rhodes said Gilligan has had at least $230 million in unappropriated revenue during the past two years which could have been used to help schools.

"HE VOTED for the income tax and is now forcing almost five-sixths of the schools to impose issues on the ballots," Rhodes said. "He has not given the schools the money he promised."

He said over five Ohio school districts are expected to close for lack of funds the Gilligan administration promised from the state income tax.

Claiming the issue is "double taxation," Rhodes said Gilligan is doubling the income tax while requesting higher property taxes.

Rhodes also rapped the present administration for "mammoth," mismanaged health and welfare programs, unfinished highway systems, $115 million parks program and anti-industry attitudes.

Rhodes said, "His answer to unemployment is to put them on welfare. The present administration wants to be number one in welfare and at the rate it's going, it won't be long before it is number one. Eighty per cent of those on ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) have been improperly overpaid through mismanagement."

"You can't take money out of pocketbooks and paychecks and expect to fight inflation. I'm going to lower taxes," he said, but neglected to explain how he would achieve this.

Rhodes said Gilligan "wants parks where people don't want them," pointing out the objections to the

JAMES A. RHODES

Kelly's Island park lodge project on Lake Erie. "He's trying to take farmers' lands against their wishes and wills."

Rhodes also knocked Gilligan's campaign tactics. "Families have to adjust their budgets to inflationary costs and their government should do likewise," he said, while stating Gilligan was campaigning around the state in a state plane and using state gasoline.

"He said he didn't want anyone to leave Ohio — spend your vacation in Ohio. He issued this statement while vacationing in Michigan!" Rhodes claimed.

"Just write down one thing he has done for Fayette County besides taxing you," he added. "This is a great agricultural and industrial community and we cannot continue the program of driving industry out."

"We have 125,000 jobs in the canning industry in Ohio. He (Gilligan) said 'I don't want you to eat one grape or head of lettuce unless Caesar Chevaz picks it.' I don't care about those people in California, I care about Ohio."

"I'm going to free all of you on election night. I'm going to take you out of bondage and you can buy all the grapes and head lettuce you want out of the markets," he continued.

Rhodes concluded by stating he planned "to take the water and fat" out of the present administration's programs, before leaving for four other engagements around the state.

ASKED IF he felt the Kent State issue would affect his chances for reelection, he said, "We are avoiding the issue so those guardsmen will have a chance to get a fair trial."

The Fayette County Republican Club sold approximately 140 tickets for the luncheon to raise funds for Rhodes' radio and television campaigns, according to Robert Brubaker, Fayette County chairman of Rhodes' reelection campaign.

Those in attendance included John Rhoad, Republican club president; Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn Coffman; county auditor Mary Morris; J.W. Sears, candidate for county commissioner; Bob McEwen, candidate for House of Representatives; and county commissioners J. Herbert Perrill and Ray Warner.

Fuel shortage plans laid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With a threatened coal miners strike just over two weeks away, the Ohio Energy Emergency Commission has approved a broad range of contingency plans to deal with fuel shortages.

The five-member commission authorized its staff advisory council to "undertake planning with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for mandatory conservation of regulated electric utilities."

Such a plan would probably be phased, an OECC staff spokesman said, beginning with pleas by utility companies for customers to conserve fuel and possibly escalating to voltage cutbacks.

Seven mishaps investigated

Five accidents were reported by Washington C.H. police officers Friday, three being minor fender-benders, occurring in parking lots. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated two county mishaps.

POLICE

FRIDAY, 10:34 p.m. — A car driven by Roy E. Payton, 16, of Jeffersonville, struck a parked car belonging to Paul L. Cox, of 315 Forrest St., in McDonald's parking lot at 208 S. Elm St. Damage was minor to the Cox auto.

4:46 p.m. — A semi-truck driven by Darrell L. Kittle, 46, of Fairdale, Ky., struck the archway of the House of Prayer, 1213 Washington Ave., with the trailer portion of the truck while exiting from the church parking lot. The mishap tore the archway down, but damage to it was estimated as moderate.

3:54 p.m. — A rear-end collision involving cars driven by Patrick A. Dennis, 18, Greenfield, and Carl D. Gardner, 47, Rt. 5, occurred in the 300 block of E. Court Street. Dennis claimed injury from the accident, but it is not known whether or not he sought

Fugitive cattle promoter apprehended in Montana

A man accused of operating a phony feeder cattle program in central Ohio was apprehended by lawmen in Bozeman, Mont. this week.

John W. King, 31, formerly of near Greenfield, was nabbed by Federal Bureau of Investigation officers Thursday in Montana.

King, also known as John W. Evans, was president of what was called the 41 Cattle Co., near Bainbridge. He was indicted April 3 on six counts of larceny by trick and accused of obtaining more than $88,000 from six Franklin County investors in a phony feeder cattle program.

King was scheduled to appear in Franklin County Common Pleas Court last July 15, but didn't show up. On the morning of the court date, Columbus attorney Byron Vickery said King called him and said he was out of the county and by "1:30 p.m. would be off the continent."

Franklin County Common Pleas Court Judge Craig Wright said he had agreed to an earlier postponement of a trial for King after being informed by King's attorney that the defendant intended to enter a guilty plea to one of the six counts of larceny by trick against him.

The judge asked that the FBI be called into the case and asked that King be "chased to the end of the earth."

King had been free on a recognizance bond requiring that no money be posted to guarantee his appearance in court. Failing to appear when free on that type of bond is an indictable offense.

Meanwhile, a bankruptcy sale will be conducted at the 41 Cattle Co., one half mile north of Bainbridge on Ohio 41. The 200-acre Ross County farm, livestock and equipment will be sold at auction at the sale conducted by Polk Real Estate, Emerson Marting and Son, auctioneers.

Firemen respond to two alarms

The Washington C.H. Fire Department responded to two fire alarms, one of which, turned out to be a gas leak.

Hot metal shavings in a container of oil at Mac Tool, Inc., U.S. 35-SE, ignited at 12:25 a.m. Saturday, Washington C.H. firemen reported.

The blaze was subdued with wet water and firemen were on the scene for one and one-half hours.

A report of a furnace fire at the James B. Rinehart residence at 1125 Campbell St., turned out to be a gas leak, when firemen arrived on the scene at 11:08 p.m. Friday.

They reported a rusted furnace flue had permitted carbon-monoxide gas to leak to an upstairs bedroom through the floor grill. The owner was advised to get the furnace repaired.

Ohio receives money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Robert E. Cecil, chairman of the Ohio American Revolution Bicentennial Advisory Commission, said Friday that $240,000 has been given Ohio by Congress for bicentennial projects.

Schools sue

for audits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two school districts with tax levy proposals on the Nov. 5 ballot filed suit Friday to force the release of state audits on the financial situations in the systems prior to the election.

The Bellefontaine and Warren school districts took the action in the 10th District Court of Appeals here after the state auditor's office refused to make an exception to a policy against releasing any audit within 30 days of an election.

"We want our people to know the date the school closing will take place before they vote," said Supt. Harold F. Martin of the Bellefontaine School District.

The Bellefontaine and Warren schools were among five districts that asked state Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson to check their books in anticipation of closing down for lack of money.

Outdoor activity this weekend should be at a maximum as perfect fall weather prevails over Ohio with no precipitation expected.

A high pressure system drifting eastward today spread sunny to partly sunny skies across Ohio. Afternoon readings climbed into the 50s and 60s. Temperatures will become warmer Sunday with readings in the 60s and 70s. Overnight temperatures will continue to be chilly in the 30s and 40s.

Partly cloudy Monday with a chance of showers Tuesday or Wednesday. Mild with highs in the upper 60s and the low 70s and lows in the 40s.

Kissinger in tough bargaining

MOSCOW (AP) — President Ford and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev will meet in Vladivostok around Thanksgiving time, a Soviet spokesman said today.

A top U.S. official said the basic idea was to get the U.S. and Soviet leaders together so that they can come to an agreement on nuclear arms limitation by the time Brezhnev visits Washington early next summer.

Word of the Brezhnev-Ford meeting was given to newsmen by Leonid Zamyatin, head of the Soviet news agency Tass and Brezhnev's spokesman, at a luncheon given by Kissinger for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Kissinger and Brezhnev met for more than five hours in two sessions Friday and were to begin a final round of talks today, but the meeting was delayed for unexplained reasons.

After Friday's negotiations, the two sides issued a joint statement in which they said the "detailed consideration" given to offensive nuclear weapons was "useful" and could possibly lead to further measures limiting them.

Kissinger, who flies to New Delhi Sunday, is trying to break the negotiating logjam on a new treaty putting further curbs on each country's offensive nuclear arsenal. U.S. sources described the atmosphere as "very friendly and very cordial."

The Kissinger-Brezhnev talks were the first time that limitation of strategic arms has been discussed at such a high level since the summit conference between Brezhnev and former President Richard M. Nixon last June in Moscow.

At that time, the two leaders failed to reach agreement on substantive offensive nuclear weapons curbs and opted to try to seek an extension until 1985 of the current treaty scheduled to expire in 1977.

U.S. officials have suggested privately that Brezhnev and his Politburo colleagues were reluctant to reach agreement with Nixon because they were uncertain of the then-president's future in office.

General Motors profit margin nears zero, firm reports

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors is launching a cost-cutting program in the wake of sagging car sales which dropped the firm's profit margin to practically zero.

GM said the cutbacks will include a trimming of capital expenditures as well as already announced production and employment cuts at four plants.

The company said Friday that its profits during the third quarter of 1974 were $16 million, down 94 per cent from record earnings of $267 million during the same period last year. And domestic auto sales during mid-October were off more than 28 per cent.

Ford and Chrysler also announced more layoffs Friday as they escalated cost-cutting programs to deal with the current depression in auto sales.

But even with the cost cutting, GM executives say an improvement in the troubled auto industry depends upon the nation's economic rebound.

GM Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg and President E.M. Estes cited unrecovered costs totaling $200 on 1975 model cars as having a significant impact on the profits decline.

While profits nose dived, dollar sales declined just 9 per cent, to $6.7 billion. The heavy toll on profits as compared to sales is viewed as an indication of heavy inflationary pressures.

Deaths, Funerals

PAUL H. DETTY — Services for Paul Detty, 47, Bellview, Fla., were held at 2 p.m. Friday in the Christian Holiness Church with the Rev. Ernest Knisley officiating. Mr. Detty, a former Washington C.H. resident, drowned Sunday in a fishing accident near Ocala, Fla.

John Adams sang three hymns and Mrs. Jessie Bethards played a piano accompaniment. Military services were conducted by VFW Post No. 3762. The flag which draped the casket of the World War II U.S. Navy veteran was folded by Robert Hall and Delbert Locey. Michael McDonald sounded taps.

Pallbearers for the burial in Washington Cemetery were Theodore Wilburn, Frank Pope, Max Roe, John Hughes, Hall and Locey.

Preliminary watershed process looms

BY JOHN P. GRUBER
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
The presence of officials from the Ohio Department of Natural Resources Watershed Planning Section and the Soil Conservation Service in Fayette County signaled the beginning of the long process known as the preliminary investigation for the Rattlesnake Creek Watershed project.

The main purpose of the team's visit to the Fayette County area this week has been to familiarize themselves with the area.

The preliminary investigation phase will most likely take about 18 months to complete. The purpose of this phase is to determine if the proposed project will be feasible — that is will the benefits from improvements exceed the cost of the improvements.

As we have stated many times in the past, the watershed planning process is a slow one. Application for assistance on the Rattlesnake Creek project was made in 1969. Finally in the fall of 1974 the preliminary investigation is getting started.

While the Ohio Department of Natural Resources and Soil Conservation Service survey team was in this area they also met Wednesday evening with the Rattlesnake Steering Committee to hear comments of the steering committee members in regard to the watershed improvements.

DIRECTORS of the Fayette County Pork Producers Association who plan to participate in the district Pork Queen Contest Wednesday, October 30 should remember to make reservations at the extension office by Monday. In addition to the queen selection a district meeting will be held to elect a district director to the Ohio Pork Producers Council. Dick Isler, executive secretary of the Ohio Pork Producers Council will be on hand to report on the state council's activities.

ENROLLMENTS are coming in fast for this winter's Grain Marketing School. Grain producers in this area who plan to participate should enroll now to avoid being left out. A check with the Area Extension Office this week revealed over 100 reservations for the school at this time. The number of participants will be limited to 150. Thus it appears enrollment will be cut off long before the December 3 starting date for the school.

THE LEAVES falling from trees around the county remind us that last year when the leaves fell, the birds

moved into the barns — so in came carriers of TGE. Swine producers through out the county should be giving some thought now to bird control programs. The best approach would be a neighborhood or community bird control program with several producers working together to keep the birds out. Are you interested in this approach? If so give me a call and we will work with you and your neighbors to coordinate a bird control program.

Sheep producers get federal aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sheep producers can expect at least some government payments for wool sold in 1974 because of the reduced level of market price this year, says the Agriculture Department.

Under a 1954 law, producers get payments to make up the difference between what they get for wool sold on the market at an "incentive" level set by USDA aimed at encouraging production.

The 1974 wool incentive or target price is 72 cents per pound, unchanged from last year. Wool prices have been below that level, however, and are expected to average 60 to 65 cents for all of 1974.

Last year the wool market averaged 83 cents per pound, thus eliminating government incentive payments. It was the first time in the 20 years of the program none had been made.

Wool prices in 1971 were so depressed — averaging 35 cents per pound — that producers collected a record $103 million in payments for wool sold that year. The 1972 market improved, but payments still totaled $65 million.

The payments for 1974 wool will be made next spring. Those normally are sent after USDA has computed the preceding year's market averages and rates for eligible growers.

Officials said Thursday that wool production in 1975 probably will drop again. The decline has been going on for many years as because of cutbacks in sheep and lamb production.

The 1974 lamb crop, for example, was estimated last July by USDA at 10.6 million head, down eight per cent from 1973.

Looking ahead to 1975 prices, the department's Outlook and Situation Board did not make a flat prediction but indicated they "may be stabilizing around current levels."

The report, however, said world prices of wool are down about 35 per cent from a year ago and that "prospects are for little improvement next year."

A longterm problem has been man-made fibers. The report summed up one example:

"Despite only moderate declines in consumer demand for carpets and rugs, use of raw carpet wool dropped 46 per cent last year and through July 1974 was down another 54 per cent from the same period of 1973."

Also, the report said, use of wool by textile mills for clothing has dropped because of competition from synthetic fibers and a decline in mill activity.

Aussies build up stockpile of beef

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report by the Agriculture Department today indicates Australia is building up a potentially huge stockpile of beef cattle that could be forced onto the world market despite low prices if drought suddenly withers pastures in that country.

Milk producers to meet Oct. 29

The annual meeting for District 2 members of Miami Valley Milk Producers Association is scheduled at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 29, in Miami View Elementary School, South Charleston, according to Ralph Baumgardner, district director.

District 2 includes all of Adams, Clinton, Clark, Fayette, Greene, Highland, Madison, Pickaway, and Ross counties.

Business conducted at the meeting will include the election of 10 advisory councilmen. Advisory council members serve one-year terms.

This year, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said, Australia has trimmed total beef exports an estimated 43 per cent below 1973.

"Most of the decline is seen for shipments to the United States, where increased slaughter of grass-fed steers and heifers is expected to put additional pressure on already low manufacturing beef prices," the report said.

The department estimated recently that total meat imports, mainly low-grade beef for hamburger and other manufactured products, will drop nearly 20 per cent this year to about 1.1 billion pounds.

Australia is the largest foreign supplier and is expected to provide about 505 million pounds of the 1974 total, compared with 708 million in 1973 when total imports were more than 1.35 billion pounds.

"Not so certain, however, is what will happen next year as a result of the tightening import restrictions in other (foreign) markets and the worsening financial problems of livestock producers," today's report said.

The United States is the only major market for foreign beef that does not have some form of import ban or quota now in effect. Quotas under a 1964 beef import law were suspended in mid-1972 and have not been put back into effect.

Cattle producer groups and some members of Congress from major livestock areas have urged President Ford to restrain beef imports, including an outright embargo on further meat for six months.

Landowners sample oil for plant food checkups

COLUMBUS — An increasing number of land parcels across Ohio are getting checkups to determine their condition, according to Myron H. Warner, Extension agronomist at Ohio State University. Usually called "soil tests," these checkups tell if the soils have enough plant food to grow good lawns or gardens or field crops or pasture grasses.

Warner reports that the number of samples tested at the Ohio State University Soil Test Laboratory is running about 25 per cent above 1973. Much of this increase is from homeowners who want information about how to have better lawns and gardens. And most of the increase in this type of soil sample is coming from the larger metropolitan areas of the state.

Because of the fertilizer shortage, Extension agronomists urged more land owners and managers to have their soils tested for the 1974 season. Warner says the same reasons will still apply to the 1975 season: more efficient use of available fertilizers; cost saving by applying only the plant food elements needed; and promise of higher crop and plant yields through the availability of the proper plant foods.

Although Warner believes supplies of fertilizer for homeowners will be adequate for next spring, he foresees

Wool payments appear likely

"Sheep farmers may get small payments for wool under the wool act for 1974 marketing," said George Speakman, chairman of the Fayette County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. "Prices for this year's wool will average between 60 and 65 cents per pound — below the 72-cent incentive price," he said.

Farm prices of shorn wool now run below last year's average 82 cents per pound; however, this year's price stands substantially above the depressed levels of recent years.

The 1974 price drop reflects a decline in wool demand. Mill use of raw wool has declined sharply because of increased competition from manmade fibers and because of a general downturn in mill activity. Mill use of apparel wool may decline to 80-85 million pounds, scoured basis, this year. Manmade fibers also made sharp inroads into carpet wool the last year.

Fayette County producers that have 1974 sales receipts for wool or unshorn lambs should file application for incentive payment at the ASCS office.

the supply for farm use as still tight. He says one fertilizer dealer recently commented that he no longer sells fertilizer, he allocates it among the farmers who want to buy. Nitrogen and phosphorus will probably be in short supply this year, Warner points out, because fertilizer plants just can't keep up with production demands.

Warner attributes some of the soil sample increase to stepped up educational programs during the past year. In addition to efforts of county Extension agents to encourage land owners to have their soils tested, Extension agronomists have had exhibits at several home and garden shows. The agronomists have been present to answer questions.

Fall is a good time to have soil tested, Warner says. He suggests that interested persons get soil test kits from their local county Cooperative Extension Service Office. These include information sheets, mailing bags, soil probes, and other information for taking tests and are available at a small fee.

Sugar firm profits zoom

NEW YORK (AP) — Amstar Corp., the nation's largest manufacturer of sugar and sugar products, says higher selling prices helped the firm more than triple its third-quarter profits over last year.

The company said Thursday that it earned $16.71 million, or $4.26 a share, during the quarter just ended. That is more than three times the $5.10 million, or $1.20 a share, it earned a year earlier.

Quarterly sales more than doubled to $544.37 million, against $221.53 million in 1973.

Amstar was not the only sugar company this week to announce sharp profit gains from the leaping price of sugar. On Wednesday, Great Western United Corp. reported a 1,200 per cent jump in its after-tax profits during the four-month period that ended Sept. 30.

Amstar President Robert T. Quittmeyer defended price hikes in refined sugar that the consumer will be paying.

He said the cost of raw cane has risen 250 per cent this year to 40 cents a pound from 12 cents a pound.

Unlike many rodents, the woodchuck does not lay up stores for winter. Instead he fattens on greens all summer and may weigh 14 pounds when he settles down for his long winter's sleep.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . By Marquis Childs

The nomination

NEW YORK — Before the Senate rules committee can reconsider the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller three months will have passed. Then with the turn of the House Judiciary Committee, it may be the end of the year or perhaps the new year and a new Congress when a vote on confirmation finally comes.

This means that for four months or longer the office of the vice presidency will be unfilled. In that interval, if an accident should befall President Ford, Speaker Carl Albert would inherit the office. Albert has made no secret of his own feeling of inadequacy and his sense of dread that such an accident might occur.

WHAT THIS says about the 25th amendment as a means for choosing a vice president hardly needs underscoring. It says something, too, about the workability of the system itself in a time of stress and strain with few parallels.

Urging Sen. Howard Cannon's rules committee to convene a session before the congressional recess so he could testify about the gifts disclosed in leaks to the press, Rockefeller was only too well aware of what had not been the subject of his interrogation in the first round of hearing.

The committee at that time was in possession of Rockefeller's income and gift tax returns and the 2,000 pages of FBI report. If they had chosen to question him then about these gifts he would have made the formal statement that he sought in vain to put in the record under oath before the congressional recess.

Not so much Committee members as Committee staffers are believed to have leaked the information that has made daily headlines. As the former governor has noted, it is against the law both to disclose information from federal income tax returns and to publish it.

With that square jaw clamping down hard, there can be no doubt that Rockefeller intends to see this through. After all, as he says, he has been in the rough and tumble of politics for 34 years. And politics in New York state can be rough indeed.

The mix of money and politics is nothing new. It was a principal charge in the Democratic primary in 1960 when Hubert Humphrey accused John F. Kennedy of coming into West Virginia with an open-ended checkbook to win the delegate race. In 1972 the millions Richard Nixon spend for his re-election were a large factor in the scandal.

The difference in Rockefeller's case in his exceptional generosity made possible by one of America's largest fortunes. The remarkable reach of his generosity with staffers and friends has little to do with politics.

An exception under another heading is the miserable Victor Lasky book about Arthur Goldberg, a meaningless superfluity since Rockefeller was certain to be re-elected governor in 1970. Political gimmicks by overzealous aides are often self-defeating.

The belief in Rockefeller's circle is that the leaks have run their course. Although one source is said to have obtained the entire bundle of material in the House Judiciary Committee files, it contains few if any important new disclosures.

THE EXTENT of the investigation is a commentary on the politics of the 25th amendment. At one point 400 FBI agents in this country and in South America were at work on the Rockefeller case putting together that 2,000-page report containing every act and every gesture in the governor's political career.

What a contrast with Nixon's selection of Spiro Agnew with apparently no knowledge of his bribe-taking in Maryland or George McGovern's selection of Sen. Thomas Tom Who? Eagleton after a single telephone inquiry.

In the light of what has happened to Rockefeller, who would be willing to undergo the ordeal of uncertainty, the piecemeal inquisition by leak?

Almost of necessity it would have to be someone who has never been in the arena; someone with no record whatsoever; someone who has never made a gift of any kind to anyone.

Rockefeller has been in the sweaty arena in a variety of offices since 1940. This background and experience eminently qualify him for the vice presidency. To hold him up for a morality never exacted of past political practitioners is not only hypocritical, but destructive of public service and a valuable public servant.

"YES, VIRGINIA, THERE IS A MR. ROCKEFELLER."

Most KSU jurors without experience

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Most of the jurors seated for the trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen indicted in the 1970 Kent State University shootings have had no prior jury service. None has served on a federal or state grand jury.

Janice Jackson, an Akron savings and loan association teller, is the only black among the four women and eight men on the panel.

The average age of the 12 seated Thursday is about 47 years and none is unmarried, although one is a widow. All but one have children.

Some of them said during questioning by U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti and attorneys that they own firearms but only for the purpose of hunting or target practice.

Only one has had direct connection with Kent State—the others called for jury service in the case who said they did were rejected.

Each of the jurors said he or she favored the U.S. maintaining a strong military force. They all answered negatively when asked if they favored refusal to serve in the armed services or unconditional amnesty for draft evaders.

They all said they did not campaign actively to end the Vietnam war but some of them said they were anxious for the United States to get out of the conflict.

None ever participated in a demonstration, but one — George Muntean, 52, of Strongsville — said one of his sons demonstrated against the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Ohio University. Muntean said he did not approve of his son's action.

He said his daughter Linda was walking from the Kent State library to her dormitory when the shootings occurred. She is now in Africa with the Peace Corps.

Judge Battisti told the women that the case probably would involve repetition of profane language and demonstration of obscene gestures. Each answered "No" when asked if that would embarrass them.

Two of the jurors — William Pinter of Euclid, a Vietnam veteran who served in the artillery, and Jean Messenger, a Shaker Heights housewife — said they had previous jury experience but in civil cases.

One — Thomas Hallauer of Elyria — said he had served in the National Guard about 40 years ago and that he had been an instructor in firearms safety.

All of the jurors said they did not watch much television, but James Bietz, a Lakewood widow, said she likes movies on TV.

Martin Planisek of Maple Heights, Hallauer and Mrs. Jackson said they like football on TV and Planisek and Mrs. Jackson said they enjoy watching detective stories.

Ice skates were common in Scandinavia during the Viking era, and Norse warriors ranked prowess on the ice nearly as high as fighting.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A fine prayer
for the elderly

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago, when my dear grandfather passed away, my son, his first great-grandchild, was given his grandfathers Bible. A few weeks ago, I was looking for a particular verse and discovered an old yellow clipping which I would like to share with the many younger people, like myself, who find annoying fault with their elders.

"Lord, thou knowest that I am growing older. Keep me from getting talkative. Release me from trying to straighten out everybody's Affairs. Keep me from reciting endless Details. Give me wings to get to the point."

"Give me grace to listen to the tales of others' Pains, but help me to endure them with patience. But seal my lips as to my own aches and pains. Teach me the glorious lesson that occasionally It is possible that I may be mistaken. Keep me Reasonably sweet, make me helpful but not bossy. I want a few friends at the end."

After finding this clipping, I feel sad and ashamed that I did not show more love and patience to this lonely old man.

LINDA M.

DEAR LINDA: Thanks for sharing. Who wrote it?

DEAR ABBY: Why do total strangers feel that they can take the liberty of touching and handling a young baby they've never seen before?

I frequently take my six-month-old son with me when I go shopping, and am constantly appalled at the number of people who feel free to grab his hands or feet, or try to tickle him, even when he's in my arms.

I appreciate remarks on what a lovely baby I have, but I consider touching rude and offensive. Babies are constantly putting their hands (and feet) in their mouths, so how easy it would be to have a cold (or worse) transmitted from a stranger who touched them.

I apologize for using your column to "sound off." Abby, but maybe my message will reach some of the offenders.

What are your thoughts on this?

CONCERNED MOTHER

DEAR CONCERNED: The fear that your baby might be contaminated by a stranger probably is more damaging to you than the actual touching is to the baby.

Simmer down, and calmly discourage strangers from touching with a pleasant: "Please, don't touch?" A harsh reprimand will give your child the idea that all strangers are "Typhoid Marys."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old girl who was born with a large strawberry mark on my right cheek. It's reddish brown and quite conspicuous without makeup. I've been to several outstanding dermatologists and plastic surgeons, and they've all told me the same thing: "It can't be removed, so cover it with makeup and learn to live with it."

The makeup I use does an excellent job of covering the blemish, but it gives me the appearance of being rather heavily made up. (However, it's still preferable to wearing a lighter makeup which wouldn't cover the blemish as well.)

My problem is what to say to well-meaning people who hardly know me, but take me aside and tell me (for my own good) that I'd be much prettier if I didn't use so much makeup.

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: I can think of no better answer than the truth. Try it, you'll be amazed at its effectiveness.

"Do you call that meaningful dialogue, 'Get a job?'"

First Federal joins drive for 'tax break' on savings

The First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 134 E. Court St., is participating in a drive to collect signatures on petitions urging Congress to give savers a tax break on their savings interest.

Harold H. Thompson, executive vice president, said the petitions urge Congress to approve a bill providing tax-free earnings from savings accounts of up to $500 ($1,000 on a joint return). The bill has already been approved by the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives. It covers savings interest earned on accounts at all financial institutions, including savings and loan associations, commercial banks and credit unions.

"This would give a long-needed tax break to lower and middle-income people hardest hit by inflation," Thompson said.

"WE URGE non-customers as well as customers to sign the petitions, which are available at the institution's office," he continued.

Thompson said, "the thrift incentive provided by passage of this bill would help dampen inflation because as people save more, they would spend and borrow less." He also pointed out that there would be long-range benefits to such a program including more savings capital would be available to invest to increase the nation's productivity which would dampen inflation; more funds through increased savings deposits at thrift institutions would be available to those people who want to buy or build homes. This would provide an immediate relief to the hard-pressed housing industry which gets most of its new mortgage funds from savings accounts.

Thompson noted that for years, tax laws have provided tax advantages to buyers of stocks and municipal bonds but not to the small saver.

"The apparent loss to the treasury in tax revenues would be more than offset by new tax revenues generated from the housing sectors and other businesses benefiting from more savings capital," he said.

The drive to circulate the petitions is being sponsored by Ohio Savings and Loan League and by the U.S. League of Savings Associations.

Petitions regarding the drive can be signed at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association office. The drive opens Oct. 28 and ends Nov. 20.

The goal for Ohio is two million signatures.

Showers mar weather picture

By The Associated Press

Scattered showers moistened an otherwise fair weather pattern across most of the nation today.

Light showers sprinted through the southern half of the Plains, the lower portions of the Mississippi and Ohio valleys and left traces of rain in southern New England.

Clear weather prevailed over the rest of the nation except for cloudiness along some coastal areas.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 24 at Redig, S.D. to 75 at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

"WE'RE ON THE ENERGY TEAM!"

As an elected official, I'm working to convince the people in my area we'll benefit from oil drilling and a new refinery near here.

Drilling operations and refineries in new areas can help everyone. They'll help increase much-needed domestic energy supplies, bring many refined petroleum products closer to consumers to help reduce costs, and add to the local economy.

"I'm working to make sure that oil industry exploration and development won't damage the environment while helping the energy situation."

The environmental scientist is an important man in the oil industry today. The industry is going to have to find and produce twice as much oil and gas in the next 15 years as it did in the past 15. It's his job to see that oil companies meet or surpass reasonable environmental standards in the process.

A lot of people are working to solve the energy problem. It's a big job that needs the best efforts of all of us.

Court rejects lengthy brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has ruled an Ohio county prosecutor's legal brief, containing 108 pages of legal argument and a 500-page appendix, was not brief enough.

In refusing to accept the appeal documents submitted by Allen County Prosecutor Lawrence S. Huffman, the court cited a rule requiring that all briefs be "concise and free from burdensome, irrelevant, immaterial and scandalous matter."

Huffman was given until Nov. 11 to submit a briefer brief.

Huffman is asking the court to reverse a decision barring him from closing down a Lima movie theater as a public nuisance.

School lunch workshops held for school cooks

FOOD FOR ALL TYPES OF FAMILIES

Learning new food buying and preparation skills was the topic for three groups in our county this past week. Everyone is feeling the effect of higher food prices, but it is especially hitting families with several children, the elderly, and the school lunch program.

The lunch hour at the Senior Nutrition Program at Persinger Hall was expanded to include both their regular week day participants and members of Senior Citizens. Wednesday's program began with Beulah Hill, Area Extension Agent, Home Economics stressing the importance of a balanced diet for a long healthy life. After a delicious lunch of hearty vegetable soup, peanut butter sandwiches, citrus molded salad, oatmeal cake with topping and milk provided by the Senior Nutrition Program the group readily shared shopping and food storage tips as Mrs. Hill led the discussion and demonstrated a pumpkin pudding recipe for them to try.

On Thursday, a similar program was presented for younger families. Ed Watkins, Extension Economist in Food Distribution from Ohio State University updated the group of 24 young homemakers with points on buying specials, times of the year foods are expected to be plentiful, and the price outlook based on previous years.

Since many homemakers are trying to lower their food spending by buying fewer convenience dishes and snacks, recipes were demonstrated by myself and Virginia Knauer and Lynn Bulkley of the Ohio Department of Health.

Between these two family-type food programs, Wednesday afternoon was spent on quantity preparation techniques for school lunches. The Washington Senior High School cooks hosted this final session of the three week workshop in which 48 of the cooks and supervisors of the Miami Trace Schools, Washington City Schools, and Senior Nutrition Program participated.

After viewing equipment use techniques presented by the Washington High School staff, the group discussed the importance of standardized recipes, how to use commodity foods, and how to get the parents and students to understand what is meant by a Type A lunch.

School food service is big business. At present there are over 4,000 public schools in Ohio participating in the school lunch program. Last year almost 173,000,000 Type A plate lunches were served in Ohio public schools. Of that number more than 40,000,000 or nearly 1/4 were served free or at reduced rates to needy children.

The total investment in school food services in Ohio public schools in 1972-73 was $162,997,189 - big business indeed. Sources of those funds include 62.2 per cent from payments by children and adults, 31.8 per cent from Federal contributions, and 6 per cent from State and local contributions. Much of this money flows back into local economies as wages and salaries to food service personnel and money paid for food supplies. Feeding children is the important reason for school food services, but the impact of these services go beyond the children who eat in the schools.

This workshop was held to encourage our school cooks in their efforts to provide our children with a hot nutritious, low-cost noon meal each day. Thanks to the following for their participation and to the Washington City School cooks for preparing our recognition-sharing dinner:

Bloomingburg: Velma Bell, Edna Brown, Bessie Allen and Mary Welsh; Chaffin: Geraldine Yeoman, Virginia Campbell and Rosy Cabbage; Eber: Edna Carman and Joan Johnson; Jasper: Mollie Garringer and Nancy Lovett; Jeffersonville: Eva Love, Mary McDonald and Virginia Pitzer;

Mrs. Clevelle is bride of Dennis L. Holloway

Miss Karol Ann Clevelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clevelle of Sturgeon Mill-Rock Mills Rd., became the bride of Dennis Lloyd Holloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Holloway, Creamer Rd.

Rev. Earl J. Russell officiated at the double-ring ceremony at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 6, in Sugar Grove United Methodist Church. A half-hour of music was presented by Mrs. Charles Moore and Mrs. Dennis Hagler, sisters of the groom, when they sang "Annie's Song," "Til There was You," "I Won't Last a Day," and "If Ever I Would Leave You." Mrs. Mary Black accompanied them at the organ.

The candelabra and a large basket of white gladioli and pink carnations trimmed with burgundy, adorned the altar. Pink and burgundy bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a long white polyester satin gown fashioned with a V-neckline and empire waist. The Chantilly lace jacket effect was trimmed with white pearls. Her floor-length veil was attached to a floppy-brimmed hat. The gown was designed and made by Mrs. Neil Humphries.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white daisy pompons and pink rosebuds with baby's breath. Her only jewelry was a white gold Lindy star necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Karen Wilson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor for her sister. The other attendants were Mrs. Kathy Cummins, also a sister of the bride and Miss Debby Rice. Their matching gowns had pink, empire bodices, short puffed sleeves and wine red A-line skirts. The matron of honor carried a large cluster of long-stemmed pink daisy pompons, and the bridesmaids carried smaller clusters of the same.

Mike Henry served as best man for his cousin, and the ushers were Keith Guthrie and Mike Gaylord.

Mrs. Clevelle, the bride's mother, wore a floor-length gown of aqua polyester knit with long sleeves. Her corsage was of yellow daisy pompons. The groom's mother chose a long gown of mint green polyester. Her corsage was of white daisy pompons trimmed with yellow. Mrs. Tennie Clevelle and Mrs. Wilbur Neff, grandmothers of the bride, wore white carnations tipped with pink.

For the reception in the social room of the church, the bride's table featured a three-tiered wedding cake surrounded with burgundy gladioli and white daisies with a bridal couple on the top. Mrs. Delores Scharenberg, the hostess, was assisted by Mrs. Marsha Edgington and Mrs. Sharon Haines. Miss Sheree Holloway, sister of the groom, presided at the guest book.

When the couple left for their wedding trip to Vermont and Massachusetts, the bride was wearing a coral pantsuit and the corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The new Mrs. Holloway, a graduate of Miami Trace High School, is employed at First National Bank. Her husband, also a graduate of MTHS and Cercy College, Arkansas, is employed at Dollar Savings and Loan Association in Columbus. They are now residing on St. Rt. 41-N.

Lions humiliated, Panthers win Homecoming

Circleville mauls Lions, 35-0

BY LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Washington coach Maurice Pfeifer stood dejectedly outside the Lions' locker room as he watched the Circleville players boarding their bus and shouting, "We're number one." The Tigers had just finished embarrassing Court House 35-0 at Gardner Park and proved that the Lions are not always king of the jungle.

"Humiliation is a good word to use to describe this loss," the Lion mentor remarked. "They (Circleville) just came to the game better prepared to play than we did."

Not only did the victory boost the Tigers into the South Central Ohio League lead with a 4-1 record, but it also accounted for the Lions' first league loss in four games this season. Washington's winning streak in the league was also stopped at 10 games.

By holding the Lions scoreless, Circleville's defense became the first team since 1966 to turn the trick. Washington's last loss by a shutout was 16-0 at the hands of Wilmington.

What was expected to be a tight battle between the top two teams in the league just did not exist. The game turned out to be more of a battle between Circleville's offensive and defensive units in seeing which could be more dominant over the Lions.

Circleville's offense was like a steam roller moving up and down the field. The only thing seemingly standing in its way was the penalty flag.

Headed by the ball carrying of tailback Biff Bumgarner, all three of the Tigers' top runners gathered more yardage than the top rusher for the Lions. Bumgarner's 169 yards in 30 carries was more than the entire total offense of 126 yards for Washington. Wingback Rick Sampsill added 55 yards in seven carries and fullback Pat McNaughton had 58 yards in 11 totes.

While the Tigers' offense totaled 21 first downs and picked up 364 yards, the Tigers' defense held the Lions to just eight first downs, 106 yards rushing and 20 yards passing.

Circleville's defense tossed the Washington runners about like rag dolls. The top runner for the Lions was quarterback Jeff Brown, who carried the ball eight times for 32 yards. Leroy Wilson was held to 30 yards in 12 carries.

Pfeifer stressed ball control throughout the week because he knew this was the only way his team could defeat Circleville. In the first 13:10 of the game, the Lions had the ball for three offensive plays. When the game was over, Circleville had the ball for 67 offensive plays and the Lions ran a total of 40.

Circleville marched 67 yards in a time-consuming 15-play drive for its first score with 10:50 remaining in the second period. The big play of the drive came when the Tigers had a third down on Washington's 29-yard line and nine yards to go for the first down. Tiger quarterback Perry Hoskins tossed a pass, which went through the hands of linebacker Larry Dumford, and landed in Bumgarner's grasp on the two-yard line. Bumgarner later pushed the ball across the goal line and Phil Roll kicked the extra point.

After Washington's drive fell inches short of a first down on Circleville's 34-yard line, the Tigers marched back up the field for another score. The 10-play, 66-yard scoring drive was culminated by a two-yard burst by Bumgarner and Roll kicked the conversion for a 14-0 lead at the half.

In the third frame, Sampsill's 34-yard return of Brown's punt set up the Tigers' first score of the second half. Six plays later, McNaughton broke off left tackle and scampered 16 yards into the endzone. With Roll's kick being successful, the Tigers led 21-0 with 8:50 remaining in the period.

The Lions were in definite need of a successful scoring drive to rekindle their hopes. Taking the ball on their own 30-yard line, the Lions drove to the Tigers' 30-yard stripe, where they were met with fourth down and six yards to go for a first down. Circleville's victory was more or less assured when Brown's fourth down pass fell incomplete.

Picking up from where Brown left off, Hoskins engineered his team in the opposite direction for another touchdown in nine plays. With Bumgarner's 21-yard run placing the ball on the Lions' 13-yard line, Sampsill took Hoskins' pitch out, scampered around right end and dove for the right corner of the endzone with just 29 seconds left in the quarter.

After Washington again failed to move the ball in the early minutes of the final stanza, Circleville regained possession in its own 37-yard line. When the Tigers' first unit took the ball to the Lions' 28-yard line, coach Larry Cook brought in his substitutes. However, the substitutes also proved to be hard to stop as they scored in seven plays on a three-yard plunge by Bill Mogan. Frank Plescia drove the final point of the game through the uprights.

In the Tigers' 67 plays, they only had the ball for eight possessions. On all but three of the possessions, Circleville produced touchdowns.

"Circleville is a fine team and they are well-coached," related Pfeifer. "I feel that Bumgarner is a great back."

Unless there is an upset, the Tigers should claim a share of the SCOL crown next week. Circleville, 6-2 for the year and 4-1 in the league, will be hosting Hillsboro. The Indians are winless in four league attempts and 2-6 for the season.

Providing there is not a tie in next week's Fayette County clash, either Washington Court House or Miami Trace will share the title with the Tigers. Both the Lions and the Panthers are 6-2 for the year and 3-1 in the league.

The Fayette County schools are each expected to win their season finales. The Lions visit Hillsboro and the Panthers host Unioto.

Circleville and Wilmington were the last teams to tie for the league crown. In 1963, each team posted a 6-1 SCOL mark.

VERY LITTLE YARDAGE — Greenfield tailback Gary Barr (42) seemed to find nothing but black jerseys Friday night. An unidentified Panther tackler brings Barr to the ground as Kent Smith (26), Ron Warnock (70) and Rick

Cards to meet 'Skins

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

"I don't think we're different from any other team in the National Football League," says St. Louis Cardinals' Coach Don Coryell.

Oh, but he's wrong, of course. The Cards are very much different—and they want to stay that way. They want to remain the only unbeaten team in the league.

To do so, they've got to knock off George Allen's visiting Washington Redskins on Sunday, the halfway mark of the season.

Coryell, naturally, isn't talking about being unbeaten. He's talking about the desire every team and every coach has. "All of us desperately want to win. We will use our material the best we can."

"Maybe I take it for granted that other coaches feel the same way. George Allen has Charley Taylor. We throw to Mel Gray. We run Terry Metcalf. He has Larry Brown."

Coryell also has Jim Hart at quarterback—but it's Coryell who calls the signals, shutting in plays. Hart doesn't seem to mind that. "It's refreshing," he says. "You get a feeling of being an 'offensive' offensive team, instead of a 'defensive' offensive team."

The Cardinals already have the upper hand over Washington. They beat the Redskins 17-10 in the second weekend of action. With another victory, St. Louis would become the first National Conference East team ever to knock off the Allen-coached 'Skins twice in one year.

Minnesota, Kansas City at San Diego and Oakland at San Francisco. On Monday night, it's Atlanta at Pittsburgh.

The Eagles and Redskins are tied at 4-2, two games back of the Cards. Philadelphia will face the Saints' Archie Manning, restored to a starting role at quarterback after a one-week benching. Bobby Scott, who led New Orleans to its first road victory in 19 games, is back on the sidelines with a knee injury.

Carl Garrett, who rushed for 101 yards last Monday night against Green Bay, is expected to get some help with the return of Jim Harrison. Their running will counter Buffalo's, led by the NFL ground-gaining leader, O.J. Simpson. The Bills, who have run off four straight victories, also have the league's passing leader in Joe Ferguson.

The Bengals, 4-2 after last week's disheartening loss to Oakland, has had its problems with non-contenders as well. Last month, San Diego beat Cincinnati 24-20. "We always seem to be up for the big boys," said tight end Bob Trumpy, "but we sometimes tend to overlook the people we're supposed to beat." And despite a 1-5 record, Houston has been giving a lot of teams trouble.

Ali joke falls flat in practice

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — Muhammad Ali took a marshmallow left on the chin from sparmate Roy Williams and executed a graceful swan dive to the floor of the ring.

There was an audible gasp from the spectators.

Clowning Ali rose unsteadily to his feet and wobbled to his corner where he draped his sleek, brown body over the ropes and fought for breath.

It was a performance worthy of an Oscar. Theater hadn't seen the likes of it since the days of John Barrymore.

"George Foreman has won the heavyweight championship of the world," Ali bellowed Friday in a ringing voice that bounced off the rafters.

"George has knocked Ali down seven times. George is leaving the ring. He has defeated the great Ali. George is the greatest of all time."

There Ali bounced quickly to his feet, did a few quick dance steps and held his arms high to the crowd.

Hardened newsmen yawned. It was just another Ali jest. Natives, relieved, cheered wildly.

Some may have recognized in this macabre scene a flash of prophecy of the possible ending of next Wednesday's world championship fight here. But not the unquenchable Ali.

That is a picture of what my critics expect," Muhammad barked from the ring. "It is only an imitation. I was only joking. It can never happen. Tell them to cheer up. No man in the world is capable of doing that in reality."

Reds release 6 players; 7 called up

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, disappointed with a second place finish in the National League West, made their first major move toward reshaping the club by releasing six players from their roster Friday.

Sold to the Chicago White Sox was pitcher Roger Nelson, the key acquisition in a trade two years ago with Kansas City. But arm troubles plagued the 30-year-old Nelson both seasons.

Pinch hitters Phil Gagliano and Andy Kosco, a part-time outfielder, were waived and three others, catcher Hal King, outfielder Roger Freed and pitcher Dick Baney, were sent to the Reds' Class AAA farm team Indianapolis.

The moves made room for seven young players, including John Vukovich, a third baseman acquired from the Milwaukee Brewers this week in exchange for pitcher Pat Osburn.

Tanks clip Indians; Wilmington wins

Unioto captured its first South Central Ohio League victory and Wilmington registered a non-league triumph in action involving the other SCOL teams, Friday night. The Shermans scored 20 points in the final quarter to down Hillsboro 30-20 and the Hurricane shut out Cincinnati McNicholas 41-0.

Unioto, now 4-4 overall and 1-3 in the SCOL, over powered the Indians with 421 total yards for the game. Hillsboro, now falling to a 2-6 season mark and 0-4 in the league, managed to compile 252 total yards for the game.

Leading the ground attack for the Shermans were Bob Matson and Terry Radcliff. Matson carried the ball 19 times for 140 yards and Radcliff had 113 yards in 21 carries.

Wilmington annihilated McNicholas on the ground and did not have benefit of a single completed pass. However, with Jackie Watson, Wilmington seldom needs to pass.

Watson piled up 254 yards and scored four touchdowns, raising his league-leading scoring to 106 points in eight games.

Watson's rushing yardage jumped over the 1000-yard mark to 1,049 yards, which is also first in the league's rushing category.

Dear friends,

If it is a youth who passes on, should we feel sad for what he misses here on earth - or should we feel glad that he has missed frustrations and disillusion of this life and has gained, early, the greater joys of the Eternal Beyond?

That's how much a college diploma can cost these days. And it's a pretty heavy commitment for a parent to face.

So how do you put away a buffer that will insure your child has a chance at college? Simple. U.S. Savings Bonds.
Buy them through the Payroll Savings
Plan where you work.

If you start now, you'll have a hefty stockpile of Bonds to draw on by the time your child's ready for school.

And the day he graduates, you'll feel pretty proud. Of yourself.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2 % the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen or destroyed. When needed, they can be cashed at

MR. & MRS. WALTER EBERHARD -

They'll Do It Every Time

Urge credit law changes for women

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Governor's Task Force on Credit for Women Friday recommended that Ohio laws against discrimination be amended to include credit for women.

Gov. John J. Gilligan, in accepting the recommendations, noted that 75 per cent of the proposals of other task forces had been implemented either by law or by executive order.

The task force suggested that credit bureaus be forced to maintain separate files on each woman who requests it, even if she is married.

Gilligan said he was surprised to note that in one case credit had to be in the name of an unemployed husband although his wife was the only one in the family working.

"Some people need a realtor, a lawyer to get a house," one woman told the task force during hearings earlier. "I need a gynecologist."

A divorced woman said: "Much to my chagrin I found that I won custody of my children and lost custody of all of our charge accounts to help provide for them."

The statements were among those included in the report handed to Gilligan by Diane Polution, chairwoman of the task force.

The task force asked that the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio be allowed to probe discrimination against women by utilities.

Ohio Bell, she said, treats a divorced woman as a new customer—often forcing her to put up a deposit—although she may have had a phone for years in her husband's name.

In 1905 the first lighted ball slid down the pole atop what was then the new Times Building and the area became known as Times Square.

Opening lead — Two of hearts.

Some squeezes are planned and need considerable preparation, others happen automatically as declarer cashes his winning tricks. In between are those which come about if declarer guesses right. Regardless of the cause, all make declarer feel good and the defender feel badly.

Bruce Strickland chose the right discard on this hand played Tuesday night, making East miserable.

After North-South landed in three no trump, West led the two of hearts. East took the ace and returned a heart to the queen. West then led a third round setting up the thirteenth heart.

South surveyed his chances and saw that if either the clubs or diamonds broke 3-3, the contract was home. Since some work had to be done on the diamonds, declarer started by leading the queen.

West took the ace of diamonds (too insure capturing an honor) and cashed the last heart.

Declarer had to discard from dummy, and his choice would either guarantee his contract or doom it. As the cards were distributed, a small club was the right choice, and Strickland picked dummy's small club. Although the diamonds didn't break, East was left with the impossible task of guarding both the spade honors and the ten of diamonds.

After declarer took the club return and cashed the two good diamonds and the King of clubs, this position remained:

West
♠ 8 7 6
♥ J

♣ 10 5 4

East
♠ Q J 9 3
♥ A 8 7
♦ 10 9 7 6
♣ 5 2

When declarer cashed the queen of clubs, East was helpless. If she threw the ten of diamonds, dummy's diamond and the ace-king of spades would take the last three tricks. If she threw the nine of spades, it was unlikely that West could beat South's spades.

East discarded a spade, and South took the final three tricks with the ace, king and ten of spades, making three for a top score.

Had declarer thrown a small diamond from dummy on the last heart, East could have held the spades while West guarded the clubs. In that case, the squeeze would never have come about.

Sometimes a top board requires a good guess, and good players guess right more often.

Tuesday's winners at the Washington Duplicate Bridge Club were Mrs. J.C. Wright and George Malek first with 43½, Dr. and Mrs. K.K. Burris second with 42½, and Bruce Strickland and Mrs. Craig Vandemark third with 41. There were five tables and par was 36.

Prison population jumps in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's prison population continued its steady climb the past three months, causing crowded conditions at some institutions, corrections officials report.

Corrections Chief Bennett Cooper said the number of inmates in the state jumped by 390 to a total of 8,906 on Sept. 30 for an increase of 1,208 over the same time last year.

Since the start of the year, he said, Ohio's prison population has been growing at an average of 130 per month.

As a result of the latest gains, previously closed cellblocks and dormitory units have been opened at four institutions and extra beds are being added at a fifth prison, Cooper said.

Ohio's prison population had been declining steadily in recent years after hitting an alltime high of 12,024 in April 1965. Then at the start of 1974 the trend made a sharp reversal.

Why the sudden increase? Joseph Ashley, director of public information in the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction, said it has been caused partly by a "fantastic increase in the number of people coming into the institutions" coupled with a 10 per cent drop in the parole rate this year from 1973.

The jump in commitments, he said, "may reflect an increase in crime, population increases generally, the economy or a variety of other factors. In a sense, it may mean the court system may not be as lenient as some think."

Cooper said the current capacity of the state's prisons is about 10,000.

5 slain at party

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland police said a gunman opened fire with an automatic carbine at a party in an East Side home late Friday night, killing five persons and wounding three others.

Three of the victims were identified as Leola Phillips, who was celebrating her 40th birthday; her husband, Sonny, and the owner of the two-family house, James Muldrew.

The other two were not identified immediately.

Police said they were told that a man entered the suite where Muldrew was holding the party for Mrs. Phillips and following an argument opened fire with a .30-caliber automatic carbine.

"Institutions will face a severe shortage of space by the middle of 1975 if the population continues to increase at the rate recorded so far this year," he said.

To meet current crowding problems, he said, the department is preparing to transfer 225 prisoners from the Mansfield Reformatory to the Lebanon Correctional Institution.

About 280 one-man cells at the Lebanon facility are being readied for occupancy by two men each in order to accommodate the additional inmates, he said.

Holiday lottery set

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Ohio Lottery Commission is planning a special holiday game to offset an expected lag in lottery ticket sales during the Christmas and New Year's holiday period.

Lottery officials wouldn't give details at Friday's commission meeting. However, Commission Chairman David Leahy said it will be a "small adaptation of the present game."

The commission agreed to beef up its security staff with two or three persons to investigate ticket thefts and fraudulent claims for prizes.

William Horrigan, chief of security, had said he would ask for 10 persons to investigate an average of 10 cases a week of ticket theft from sales agents and about 100 fraud cases a week.

But at Friday's meeting he asked for only two or three. A commission spokesman said Horrigan intends eventually to build a larger staff.

Four bombs rock Manhattan banks

NEW YORK (AP) — Four thunderous bomb explosions directed at major banks hit mid-Manhattan early today. A militant Puerto Rican group claimed responsibility for the blasts.

The bombs were triggered within a half hour of each other in a four-block area, the first at 2:55 a.m. Jagged glass flew for hundreds of feet, but no injuries were reported, police said.

Police confirmed that all the explosions were the work of a Puerto Rican nationalist organization.

"It was a bomb — definitely a bomb," said Police Lt. Edward Cash at the scene of the first blast at the Banco de Ponce at 49th Street and Rockefeller Plaza.

Police said there was no advance warning.

The three other explosions hit a Chemical Bank branch office in the Exxon building at 49th Street and Avenue of the Americas, the Union Carbide Building at 48th Street and Park Avenue and Lever House at 53rd Street and Park Avenue.

A fifth bomb, placed in a car in the Wall Street area, destroyed the automobile and blew out plate glass windows in five nearby banks. No injuries were reported.

Police would not definitely link this explosion to the other four, but said that a connection was likely.

A woman who did not give her name told The Associated Press in a telephone call about 3:40 a.m. that the explosions were the work of a Puerto Rican nationalist organization.

"We have just bombed imperialist banks," she said. "Free all Puerto Rican political prisoners."

She directed the news agency to a letter which had been placed in a telephone booth at 73rd Street and Broadway. The letter was signed the "Central Command" of the "Armed Forces of Puerto Rican National Liberation."

It demanded the release of five Puerto Ricans who are federal prisoners: Oscar Collazo, Lolita Lebron, Rafael Cancel Miranda, Andres Figueroa Cordero and Irving Flores.

Collazo was one of two Puerto Rican nationalists who attempted to assassinate President Harry S. Truman on Nov. 1, 1950. The other four fired more than 20 pistol shots from a spectators' gallery in the U.S. House of Representatives on March 1, 1954, while shouting "Freedom for Puerto Rico." Five congressmen were wounded.

The letter from the militant group said in part:

"The corporations we bombed are an integral part of yanki monopoly capitalism.... The Puerto Rican people are organizing an army in order to form Peoples Revolutionary Army which will rid Puerto Rico of yanki colonialism. We have opened two fronts, one in Puerto Rico and the other in the United States...."

An acrid smoke followed the explosions and Cash said: "The bombs were probably made from some form of gun powder, possibly dynamite."

Former governor at luncheon here

Gilligan 'tax mismanagement' rapped by Rhodes in speech

By SANDY FOSSON

Record-Herald Staff Writer
Former Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes pounced on Democratic Governor John J. Gilligan for mismanagement of tax revenues Friday in Fayette County as he rounded into the last lap of his campaign.

Rhodes, who spoke at a $25-a-plate ham sandwich luncheon in the Mahan Building, was over 30 minutes late for the affair but blasted Gilligan in his 20-minute speech.

Rhodes said Gilligan has had at least $230 million in unappropriated revenue during the past two years which could have been used to help schools.

"HE VOTED for the income tax and is now forcing almost five-sixths of the schools to impose issues on the ballots," Rhodes said. "He has not given the schools the money he promised."

He said over five Ohio school districts are expected to close for lack of funds the Gilligan administration promised from the state income tax.

Claiming the issue is "double taxation," Rhodes said Gilligan is doubling the income tax while requesting higher property taxes.

Rhodes also rapped the present administration for "mammoth," mismanaged health and welfare programs, unfinished highway systems, $115 million parks program and anti-industry attitudes.

Rhodes said, "His answer to unemployment is to put them on welfare. The present administration wants to be number one in welfare and at the rate it's going, it won't be long before it is number one. Eighty per cent of those on ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) have been improperly overpaid through mismanagement.

"You can't take money out of pocketbooks and paychecks and expect to fight inflation. I'm going to lower taxes," he said, but neglected to explain how he would achieve this.

Rhodes said Gilligan "wants parks where people don't want them," pointing out the objections to the

JAMES A. RHODES

Kelly's Island park lodge project on Lake Erie. "He's trying to take farmers' lands against their wishes and wills."

Rhodes also knocked Gilligan's campaign tactics. "Families have to adjust their budgets to inflationary costs and their government should do likewise," he said, while stating Gilligan was campaigning around the state in a state plane and using state gasoline.

"He said he didn't want anyone to leave Ohio — spend your vacation in Ohio. He issued this statement while vacationing in Michigan!" Rhodes claimed.

"Just write down one thing he has

Fuel shortage plans laid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With a threatened coal miners strike just over two weeks away, the Ohio Energy Emergency Commission has approved a broad range of contingency plans to deal with fuel shortages.

The five-member commission authorized its staff advisory council to "undertake planning with the Public done for Fayette County besides taxing you," he added. "This is a great agricultural and industrial community and we cannot continue the program of driving industry out."

"We have 125,000 jobs in the canning industry in Ohio. He (Gilligan) said 'I don't want you to eat one grape or head of lettuce unless Caesar Chevaz picks it.' I don't care about those people in California, I care about Ohio."

"I'm going to free all of you on election night. I'm going to take you out of bondage and you can buy all the grapes and head lettuce you want out of the markets," he continued.

Rhodes concluded by stating he planned "to take the water and fat" out of the present administration's programs, before leaving for four other engagements around the state.

ASKED IF he felt the Kent State issue would affect his chances for reelection, he said, "We are avoiding the issue so those guardsmen will have a chance to get a fair trial."

The Fayette County Republican Club sold approximately 140 tickets for the luncheon to raise funds for Rhodes' radio and television campaigns, according to Robert Brubaker, Fayette County chairman of Rhodes' reelection campaign.

Those in attendance included John Rhoad, Republican club president; Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn Coffman; county auditor Mary Morris; J.W. Sears, candidate for county commissioner; Bob McEwen, candidate for House of Representatives; and county commissioners J. Herbert Perrill and Ray Warner.

Utilities Commission of Ohio for mandatory conservation of regulated electric utilities."

Such a plan would probably be phased, an OECC staff spokesman said, beginning with pleas by utility companies for customers to conserve fuel and possibly escalating to voltage cutbacks.

Seven mishaps investigated

Fugitive cattle promoter apprehended in Montana

A man accused of operating a phony feeder cattle program in central Ohio was apprehended by lawmen in Bozeman, Mont. this week.

John W. King, 31, formerly of near Greenfield, was nabbed by Federal Bureau of Investigation officers Thursday in Montana.

King, also known as John W. Evans, was president of what was called the 41 Cattle Co., near Bainbridge. He was indicted April 3 on six counts of larceny by trick and accused of obtaining more than $88,000 from six Franklin County investors in a phony feeder cattle program.

King was scheduled to appear in Franklin County Common Pleas Court last July 15, but didn't show up. On the morning of the court date, Columbus attorney Byron Vickery said King called him and said he was out of the county and by "1:30 p.m. would be off the continent."

Franklin County Common Pleas Court Judge Craig Wright said he had agreed to an earlier postponement of a trial for King after being informed by King's attorney that the defendant intended to enter a guilty plea to one of the six counts of larceny by trick against him.

The judge asked that the FBI be called into the case and asked that King be "chased to the end of the earth."

King had been free on a recognizance bond requiring that no money be posted to guarantee his appearance in court. Failing to appear when free on that type of bond is an indictable offense.

Meanwhile, a bankruptcy sale will be conducted at the 41 Cattle Co., one half mile north of Bainbridge on Ohio 41. The 200-acre Ross County farm, livestock and equipment will be sold at auction at the sale conducted by Polk Real Estate, Emerson Marting and Son, auctioneers.

Firemen respond to two alarms

The Washington C.H. Fire Department responded to two fire alarms, one of which, turned out to be a gas leak.

Hot metal shavings in a container of oil at Mac Tool, Inc., U.S. 35-SE, ignited at 12:25 a.m. Saturday, Washington C.H. firemen reported.

The blaze was subdued with wet water and firemen were on the scene for one and one-half hours.

A report of a furnace fire at the James B. Rinehart residence at 1125 Campbell St., turned out to be a gas leak, when firemen arrived on the scene at 11:08 p.m. Friday.

They reported a rusted furnace flue had permitted carbon-monoxide gas to leak to an upstairs bedroom through the floor grill. The owner was advised to get the furnace repaired.

Partly cloudy Monday with a chance of showers Tuesday or Wednesday. Mild with highs in the upper 60s and the low 70s and lows in the 40s.

Kissinger in tough bargaining

MOSCOW (AP) — President Ford and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev will meet in Vladivostok around Thanksgiving time, a Soviet spokesman said today.

A top U.S. official said the basic idea was to get the U.S. and Soviet leaders together so that they can come to an agreement on nuclear arms limitation by the time Brezhnev visits Washington early next summer.

Word of the Brezhnev-Ford meeting was given to newsmen by Leonid Zamyatin, head of the Soviet news agency Tass and Brezhnev's spokesman, at a luncheon given by Kissinger for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Kissinger and Brezhnev met for more than five hours in two sessions Friday and were to begin a final round of talks today, but the meeting was delayed for unexplained reasons.

After Friday's negotiations, the two sides issued a joint statement in which they said the "detailed consideration" given to offensive nuclear weapons was "useful" and could possibly lead to further measures limiting them.

Kissinger, who flies to New Delhi Sunday, is trying to break the negotiating logjam on a new treaty putting further curbs on each country's offensive nuclear arsenal. U.S. sources described the atmosphere as "very friendly and very cordial."

The Kissinger-Brezhnev talks were the first time that limitation of strategic arms has been discussed at such a high level since the summit conference between Brezhnev and former President Richard M. Nixon last June in Moscow.

At that time, the two leaders failed to reach agreement on substantive offensive nuclear weapons curbs and opted to try to seek an extension until 1985 of the current treaty scheduled to expire in 1977.

U.S. officials have suggested privately that Brezhnev and his Politburo colleagues were reluctant to reach agreement with Nixon because they were uncertain of the then-president's future in office.

Schools sue for audits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two school districts with tax levy proposals on the Nov. 5 ballot filed suit Friday to force the release of state audits on the financial situations in the systems prior to the election.

The Bellefontaine and Warren school districts took the action in the 10th District Court of Appeals here after the state auditor's office refused to make an exception to a policy against releasing any audit within 30 days of an election.

"We want our people to know the date the school closing will take place before they vote," said Supt. Harold F. Martin of the Bellefontaine School District.

The Bellefontaine and Warren schools were among five districts that asked state Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson to check their books in anticipation of closing down for lack of money.

Man injured

Charles E. Tillis, 52, of 513 S. Fayette St., was struck in the left eye while at the H and H Bar, Court Street, at 1 a.m. Saturday, Washington C.H. Police officers reported today.

He was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, treated and released.

General Motors profit margin nears zero, firm reports

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors is launching a cost-cutting program in the wake of sagging car sales which dropped the firm's profit margin to practically zero.

GM said the cutbacks will include a trimming of capital expenditures as well as already announced production and employment cuts at four plants.

The company said Friday that its profits during the third quarter of 1974 were $16 million, down 94 per cent from record earnings of $267 million during the same period last year. And domestic auto sales during mid-October were off more than 28 per cent.

Ford and Chrysler also announced more layoffs Friday as they escalated cost-cutting programs to deal with the current depression in auto sales.

But even with the cost cutting, GM executives say an improvement in the troubled auto industry depends upon the nation's economic rebound.

GM Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg and President E.M. Estes cited unrecovered costs totaling $200 on 1975 model cars as having a significant impact on the profits decline.

While profits nose dived, dollar sales declined just 9 per cent, to $6.7 billion. The heavy toll on profits as compared to sales is viewed as an indication of heavy inflationary pressures.

Profits as a per cent of sales, another indicator, were .02 per cent, down from 3.5 per cent in the third quarter last year.

But Gerstenberg and Estes said they expect GM vehicle sales, off 26 per cent for the first nine months, to improve during the fourth quarter.

GM's profits through the first nine months of 1974 were $442 million, off 76.5 per cent from $1.88 billion last year, based on sales of $22.2 billion, 17 per cent below the same period in 1973.

Tax rolls will bear a heavy toll for GM's poor performance. The firm said domestic and foreign tax payments were $302 million during the nine-month period this year, down from $1.76 billion a year ago.

Earlier this week, Chrysler reported an $8 million third-quarter loss despite a $500 million gain in dollar sales. Ford will release its quarterly report next Wednesday.

Auto layoffs spread quickly

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. is laying off 950 workers from five U.S. plants in an effort to trim costs. Chrysler laid off 620 workers.

The decisions came Friday on the heels of General Motors' announcement Thursday that 6,000 of its workers would be laid off indefinitely beginning next month because of poor automobile sales.

Ford and Chrysler said their indefinite layoffs are part of a previously announced cost-cutting program.

Ford layoffs begin next Monday and include 225 body engineers at the Dearborn, Mich., stamping plant, 75 tool and tie workers at both the Dearborn and Woodhaven, Mich., stamping plants, and 575 tool and die workers at plants in Buffalo, N.Y., Chicago and Cleveland.

Chrysler layoffs will take effect over the next two months at the firm's trim plant in Lyons, Mich. The nation's No. 3 auto maker said operations performed at the plant will be consolidated with other Chrysler plants.

The Chrysler layoffs will reduce the Lyons plant workforce from 730 employees to 110. The plant's operations will be limited to production of vinyl roofs, which are made exclusively for Chrysler.

John Adams sang three hymns and Mrs. Jessie Bethards played a piano accompaniment. Military services were conducted by VFW Post No. 3762. The flag which draped the casket of the World War II U.S. Navy veteran was folded by Robert Hall and Delbert Locey. Michael McDonald sounded taps.

Pallbearers for the burial in Washington Cemetery were Theodore Wilburn, Frank Pope, Max Roe, John Hughes, Hall and Locey.

Preliminary watershed process looms

BY JOHN P. GRUBER

County Extension Agent, Agriculture
The presence of officials from the Ohio Department of Natural Resources Watershed Planning Section and the Soil Conservation Service in Fayette County signaled the beginning of the long process known as the preliminary investigation for the Rattlesnake Creek Watershed project.

The main purpose of the team's visit to the Fayette County area this week has been to familiarize themselves with the area.

The preliminary investigation phase will most likely take about 18 months to complete. The purpose of this phase is to determine if the proposed project will be feasible — that is will the benefits from improvements exceed the cost of the improvements.

As we have stated many times in the past, the watershed planning process is a slow one. Application for assistance on the Rattlesnake Creek project was made in 1969. Finally in the fall of 1974 the preliminary investigation is getting started.

While the Ohio Department of Natural Resources and Soil Conservation Service survey team was in this area they also met Wednesday evening with the Rattlesnake Steering Committee to hear comments of the steering committee members in regard to the watershed improvements.

DIRECTORS of the Fayette County Pork Producers Association who plan to participate in the district Pork Queen Contest Wednesday, October 30 should remember to make reservations at the extension office by Monday. In addition to the queen selection a district meeting will be held to elect a district director to the Ohio Pork Producers Council. Dick Isler, executive secretary of the Ohio Pork Producers Council will be on hand to report on the state council's activities.

ENROLLMENTS are coming in fast for this winter's Grain Marketing School. Grain producers in this area who plan to participate should enroll now to avoid being left out. A check with the Area Extension Office this week revealed over 100 reservations for the school at this time. The number of participants will be limited to 150. Thus it appears enrollment will be cut off long before the December 3 starting date for the school.

THE LEAVES falling from trees around the county remind us that last year when the leaves fell, the birds

moved into the barns — so in came carriers of TGE. Swine producers through out the county should be giving some thought now to bird control programs. The best approach would be a neighborhood or community bird control program with several producers working together to keep the birds out. Are you interested in this approach? If so give me a call and we will work with you and your neighbors to coordinate a bird control program.

Sheep producers get federal aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sheep producers can expect at least some government payments for wool sold in 1974 because of the reduced level of market price this year, says the Agriculture Department.

Under a 1954 law, producers get payments to make up the difference between what they get for wool sold on the market at an "incentive" level set by USDA aimed at encouraging production.

The 1974 wool incentive or target price is 72 cents per pound, unchanged from last year. Wool prices have been below that level, however, and are expected to average 60 to 65 cents for all of 1974.

Last year the wool market averaged 83 cents per pound, thus eliminating government incentive payments. It was the first time in the 20 years of the program none had been made.

Wool prices in 1971 were so depressed — averaging 35 cents per pound — that producers collected a record $103 million in payments for wool sold that year. The 1972 market improved, but payments still totaled $65 million.

The payments for 1974 wool will be made next spring. Those normally are sent after USDA has computed the preceding year's market averages and rates for eligible growers.

Officials said Thursday that wool production in 1975 probably will drop again. The decline has been going on for many years as because of cutbacks in sheep and lamb production.

The 1974 lamb crop, for example, was estimated last July by USDA at 10.6 million head, down eight per cent from 1973.

Looking ahead to 1975 prices, the department's Outlook and Situation Board did not make a flat prediction but indicated they "may be stabilizing around current levels."

The report, however, said world prices of wool are down about 35 per cent from a year ago and that "prospects are for little improvement next year."

A longterm problem has been man-made fibers. The report summed up one example:

"Despite only moderate declines in consumer demand for carpets and rugs, use of raw carpet wool dropped 46 per cent last year and through July 1974 was down another 54 per cent from the same period of 1973."

Also, the report said, use of wool by textile mills for clothing has dropped because of competition from synthetic fibers and a decline in mill activity.

Aussies build up stockpile of beef

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report by the Agriculture Department today indicates Australia is building up a potentially huge stockpile of beef cattle that could be forced onto the world market despite low prices if drought suddenly withers pastures in that country.

Milk producers to meet Oct. 29

The annual meeting for District 2 members of Miami Valley Milk Producers Association is scheduled at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 29, in Miami View Elementary School, South Charleston, according to Ralph Baumgardner, district director.

District 2 includes all of Adams, Clinton, Clark, Fayette, Greene, Highland, Madison, Pickaway, and Ross counties.

Business conducted at the meeting will include the election of 10 advisory councilmen. Advisory council members serve one-year terms.

This year, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said, Australia has trimmed total beef exports an estimated 43 per cent below 1973.

"Most of the decline is seen for shipments to the United States, where increased slaughter of grass-fed steers and heifers is expected to put additional pressure on already low manufacturing beef prices," the report said.

The department estimated recently that total meat imports, mainly low-grade beef for hamburger and other manufactured products, will drop nearly 20 per cent this year to about 1.1 billion pounds.

Australia is the largest foreign supplier and is expected to provide about 505 million pounds of the 1974 total, compared with 708 million in 1973 when total imports were more than 1.35 billion pounds.

"Not so certain, however, is what will happen next year as a result of the tightening import restrictions in other (foreign) markets and the worsening financial problems of livestock producers," today's report said.

The United States is the only major market for foreign beef that does not have some form of import ban or quota now in effect. Quotas under a 1964 beef import law were suspended in mid-1972 and have not been put back into effect.

Cattle producer groups and some members of Congress from major livestock areas have urged President Ford to restrain beef imports, including an outright embargo on further meat for six months.

Landowners sample oil for plant food checkups

COLUMBUS — An increasing number of land parcels across Ohio are getting checkups to determine their condition, according to Myron H. Warner, Extension agronomist at Ohio State University. Usually called "soil tests," these checkups tell if the soils have enough plant food to grow good lawns or gardens or field crops or pasture grasses.

Warner reports that the number of samples tested at the Ohio State University Soil Test Laboratory is running about 25 per cent above 1973. Much of this increase is from homeowners who want information about how to have better lawns and gardens. And most of the increase in this type of soil sample is coming from the larger metropolitan areas of the state.

Because of the fertilizer shortage, Extension agronomists urged more land owners and managers to have their soils tested for the 1974 season. Warner says the same reasons will still apply to the 1975 season: more efficient use of available fertilizers; cost saving by applying only the plant food elements needed; and promise of higher crop and plant yields through the availability of the proper plant foods.

Although Warner believes supplies of fertilizer for homeowners will be adequate for next spring, he foresees

the supply for farm use as still tight. He says one fertilizer dealer recently commented that he no longer sells fertilizer, he allocates it among the farmers who want to buy. Nitrogen and phosphorus will probably be in short supply this year, Warner points out, because fertilizer plants just can't keep up with production demands.

Warner attributes some of the soil sample increase to stepped up educational programs during the past year. In addition to efforts of county Extension agents to encourage land owners to have their soils tested, Extension agronomists have had exhibits at several home and garden shows. The agronomists have been present to answer questions.

Fall is a good time to have soil tested, Warner says. He suggests that interested persons get soil test kits from their local county Cooperative Extension Service Office. These include information sheets, mailing bags, soil probes, and other information for taking tests and are available at a small fee.

Sugar firm profits zoom

NEW YORK (AP) — Amstar Corp., the nation's largest manufacturer of sugar and sugar products, says higher selling prices helped the firm more than triple its third-quarter profits over last year.

The company said Thursday that it earned $16.71 million, or $4.26 a share, during the quarter just ended. That is more than three times the $5.10 million, or $1.20 a share, it earned a year earlier.

Quarterly sales more than doubled to $544.37 million, against $221.53 million in 1973.

Amstar was not the only sugar company this week to announce sharp profit gains from the leaping price of sugar. On Wednesday, Great Western United Corp. reported a 1,200 per cent jump in its after-tax profits during the four-month period that ended Sept. 30.

Amstar President Robert T. Quittmeyer defended price hikes in refined sugar that the consumer will be paying.

He said the cost of raw cane has risen 250 per cent this year to 40 cents a pound from 12 cents a pound.

Unlike many rodents, the woodchuck does not lay up stores for winter. Instead he fattens on greens all summer and may weigh 14 pounds when he settles down for his long winter's sleep.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . By Marquis Childs

The nomination

NEW YORK — Before the Senate rules committee can reconsider the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller three months will have passed. Then with the turn of the House Judiciary Committee, it may be the end of the year or perhaps the new year and a new Congress when a vote on confirmation finally comes.

This means that for four months or longer the office of the vice presidency will be unfilled. In that interval, if an accident should befall President Ford, Speaker Carl Albert would inherit the office. Albert has made no secret of his own feeling of inadequacy and his sense of dread that such an accident might occur.

WHAT THIS says about the 25th amendment as a means for choosing a vice president hardly needs underscoring. It says something, too, about the workability of the system itself in a time of stress and strain with few parallels.

Urging Sen. Howard Cannon's rules committee to convene a session before the congressional recess so he could testify about the gifts disclosed in leaks to the press, Rockefeller was only too well aware of what had not been the subject of his interrogation in the first round of hearing.

The committee at that time was in possession of Rockefeller's income and gift tax returns and the 2,000 pages of FBI report. If they had chosen to question him then about these gifts he would have made the formal statement that he sought in vain to put in the record under oath before the congressional recess.

Not so much Committee members as Committee staffers are believed to have leaked the information that has made daily headlines. As the former governor has noted, it is against the law both to disclose information from federal income tax returns and to publish it.

With that square jaw clamping down hard, there can be no doubt that Rockefeller intends to see this through. After all, as he says, he has been in the rough and tumble of politics for 34 years. And politics in New York state can be rough indeed.

The mix of money and politics is nothing new. It was a principal charge in the Democratic primary in 1960 when Hubert Humphrey accused John F. Kennedy of coming into West Virginia with an open-ended checkbook to win the delegate race. In 1972 the millions Richard Nixon spend for his re-election were a large factor in the scandal.

The difference in Rockefeller's case in his exceptional generosity made possible by one of America's largest fortunes. The remarkable reach of his generosity with staffers and friends has little to do with politics.

An exception under another heading is the miserable Victor Lasky book about Arthur Goldberg, a meaningless superfluity since Rockefeller was certain to be re-elected governor in 1970. Political gimmicks by over-zealous aides are often self-defeating. The belief in Rockefeller's circle is that the leaks have run their course. Although one source is said to have obtained the entire bundle of material in the House Judiciary Committee files, it contains few if any important new disclosures.

THE EXTENT of the investigation is a commentary on the politics of the 25th amendment. At one point 400 FBI agents in this country and in South America were at work on the Rockefeller case putting together that 2,000-page report containing every act and every gesture in the governor's political career.

What a contrast with Nixon's selection of Spiro Agnew with apparently no knowledge of his bribe-taking in Maryland or George McGovern's selection of Sen. Thomas Tom Who? Eagleton after a single telephone inquiry.

In the light of what has happened to Rockefeller, who would be willing to undergo the ordeal of uncertainty, the piecemeal inquisition by leak?

Almost of necessity it would have to be someone who has never been in the arena; someone with no record whatsoever; someone who has never made a gift of any kind to anyone.

Rockefeller has been in the sweaty arena in a variety of offices since 1940. This background and experience eminently qualify him for the vice presidency. To hold him up for a morality never exacted of past political practitioners is not only hypocritical, but destructive of public service and a valuable public servant.

Most KSU jurors without experience

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Most of the jurors seated for the trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen indicted in the 1970 Kent State University shootings have had no prior jury service. None has served on a federal or state grand jury.

Janice Jackson, an Akron savings and loan association teller, is the only black among the four women and eight men on the panel.

The average age of the 12 seated Thursday is about 47 years and none is unmarried, although one is a widow. All but one have children.

Some of them said during questioning by U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti and attorneys that they own firearms but only for the purpose of hunting or target practice.

Only one has had direct connection with Kent State—the others called for jury service in the case who said they did were rejected.

Each of the jurors said he or she favored the U.S. maintaining a strong military force. They all answered negatively when asked if they favored refusal to serve in the armed services or unconditional amnesty for draft evaders.

They all said they did not campaign actively to end the Vietnam war but some of them said they were anxious for the United States to get out of the conflict.

None ever participated in a demonstration, but one — George Muntean, 52, of Strongsville — said one of his sons demonstrated against the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Ohio University. Muntean said he did not approve of his son's action.

He said his daughter Linda was walking from the Kent State library to her dormitory when the shootings occurred. She is now in Africa with the Peace Corps.

Judge Battisti told the women that the case probably would involve repetition of profane language and demonstration of obscene gestures. Each answered "No" when asked if that would embarrass them.

Two of the jurors — William Pinter of Euclid, a Vietnam veteran who served in the artillery, and Jean Messenger, a Shaker Heights housewife—said they had previous jury experience but in civil cases.

One—Thomas Hallauer of Elyria—said he had served in the National Guard about 40 years ago and that he had been an instructor in firearms safety.

All of the jurors said they did not watch much television, but James Bietz, a Lakewood widow, said she likes movies on TV.

Martin Planisek of Maple Heights, Hallauer and Mrs. Jackson said they like football on TV and Planisek and Mrs. Jackson said they enjoy watching detective stories.

Ice skates were common in Scandinavia during the Viking era, and Norse warriors ranked prowess on the ice nearly as high as fighting.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A fine prayer
for the elderly

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago, when my dear grandfather passed way, my son, his first great-grandchild, was given his grandfathers Bible. A few weeks ago, I was looking for a particular verse and discovered an old yellow clipping which I would like to share with the many younger people, like myself, who find annoying fault with their elders.

"Lord, thou knowest that I am growing older. Keep me from getting talkative. Release me from trying to straighten out everybody's Affairs. Keep me from reciting endless Details. Give me wings to get to the point."

"Give me grace to listen to the tales of others' Pains, but help me to endure them with patience. But seal my lips as to my own aches and pains. Teach me the glorious lesson that occasionally it is possible that I may be mistaken. Keep me Reasonably sweet, make me helpful but not bossy. I want a few friends at the end."

After finding this clipping, I feel sad and ashamed that I did not show more love and patience to this lonely old man.

LINDA M.

DEAR LINDA: Thanks for sharing. Who wrote it?

DEAR ABBY: Why do total strangers feel that they can take the liberty of touching and handling a young baby they've never seen before?

I frequently take my six-month-old son with me when I go shopping, and am constantly appalled at the number of people who feel free to grab his hands or feet, or try to tickle him, even when he's in my arms.

I appreciate remarks on what a lovely baby I have, but I consider touching rude and offensive. Babies are constantly putting their hands (and feet) in their mouths, so how easy it would be to have a cold (or worse) transmitted from a stranger who touched them.

I apologize for using your column to "sound off," Abby, but maybe my message will reach some of the offenders.

What are your thoughts on this?

CONCERNED MOTHER
DEAR CONCERNED: The fear that your baby might be contaminated by a stranger probably is more damaging to you than the actual touching is to the baby.

Simmer down, and calmly discourage strangers from touching with a pleasant: "Please, don't touch?" A harsh reprimand will give your child the idea that all strangers are "Typhoid Marys."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old girl who was born with a large strawberry mark on my right cheek. It's reddish brown and quite conspicuous without makeup. I've been to several outstanding dermatologists and plastic surgeons, and they've all told me the same thing: "It can't be removed, so cover it with makeup and learn to live with it."

The makeup I use does an excellent job of covering the blemish, but it gives me the appearance of being rather heavily made up. (However, it's still preferable to wearing a lighter makeup which wouldn't cover the blemish as well.)

My problem is what to say to well-meaning people who hardly know me, but take me aside and tell me (for my own good) that I'd be much prettier if I didn't use so much makeup.

STUMPED
DEAR STUMPED: I can think of no better answer than the truth. Try it—you'll be amazed at its effectiveness.

Unlike most other natives of Scorpio, you are not particularly attracted to business, nor would you reach such high plateaus of success along those lines as you would in others. For instance, you could make an outstanding lawyer; could also succeed in public life as a statesman or diplomat. The theater, medicine, lecturing and exploration are also excellent outlets for your talents. Less aggressive than most of your counterparts, you are more dependent upon love and cooperation than they — which you return in full!

First Federal joins drive for 'tax break' on savings

The First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 134 E. Court St., is participating in a drive to collect signatures on petitions urging Congress to give savers a tax break on their savings interest.

Harold H. Thompson, executive vice president, said the petitions urge Congress to approve a bill providing tax-free earnings from savings accounts of up to $500 ($1,000 on a joint return). The bill has already been approved by the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives. It covers savings interest earned on accounts at all financial institutions, including savings and loan associations, commercial banks and credit unions.

"This would give a long-needed tax break to lower and middle-income people hardest hit by inflation," Thompson said.

"WE URGE non-customers as well as customers to sign the petitions, which are available at the institution's office," he continued.

Thompson said, "the thrift incentive provided by passage of this bill would help dampen inflation because as people save more, they would spend and borrow less." He also pointed out that there would be long-range benefits to such a program including more savings capital would be available to invest to increase the nation's productivity which would dampen inflation; more funds through increased savings deposits at thrift institutions would be available to those people who want to buy or build homes. This would provide an immediate relief to the hard-pressed housing industry which gets most of its new mortgage funds from savings accounts.

Thompson noted that for years, tax laws have provided tax advantages to buyers of stocks and municipal bonds but not to the small saver.

"The apparent loss to the treasury in tax revenues would be more than offset by new tax revenues generated from the housing sectors and other businesses benefiting from more savings capital," he said.

The drive to circulate the petitions is being sponsored by Ohio Savings and Loan League and by the U.S. League of Savings Associations.

Petitions regarding the drive can be signed at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association office. The drive opens Oct. 28 and ends Nov. 20.

The goal for Ohio is two million signatures.

Showers mar weather picture

By The Associated Press
Scattered showers moistened an otherwise fair weather pattern across most of the nation today.

Light showers sprinted through the southern half of the Plains, the lower portions of the Mississippi and Ohio valleys and left traces of rain in southern New England.

Clear weather prevailed over the rest of the nation except for cloudiness along some coastal areas.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 24 at Redig, S.D. to 75 at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

"WE'RE ON THE ENERGY TEAM!"

"As an elected official, I'm working to convince the people in my area we'll benefit from oil drilling and a new refinery near here."

Drilling operations and refineries in new areas can help everyone. They'll help increase much-needed domestic energy supplies, bring many refined petroleum products closer to consumers to help reduce costs, and add to the local economy.

"I'm working to make sure that oil industry exploration and development won't damage the environment while helping the energy situation. The environmental scientist is an important man in the oil industry today. The industry is going to have to find and produce twice as much oil and gas in the next 15 years as it did in the past 15. It's his job to see that oil companies meet or surpass reasonable environmental standards in the process.

A lot of people are working to solve the energy problem. It's a big job that needs the best efforts of all of us.

Huffman was given until Nov. 11 to submit a briefer brief.

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS L. HOLLOWAY

Mrs. Clevelle is bride of Dennis L. Holloway

Miss Karol Ann Clevelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clevelle of Sturgeon Mill-Rock Mills Rd., became the bride of Dennis Lloyd Holloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Holloway, Creamer Rd.

Rev. Earl J. Russell officiated at the double-ring ceremony at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 6, in Sugar Grove United Methodist Church. A half-hour of music was presented by Mrs. Charles Moore and Mrs. Dennis Hagler, sisters of the groom, when they sang "Annie's Song," "Til There was You," "I Won't Last a Day," and "If Ever I Would Leave You." Mrs. Mary Black accompanied them at the organ.

The candelabra and a large basket of white gladioli and pink carnations trimmed with burgundy, adorned the altar. Pink and burgundy bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a long white polyester satin gown fashioned with a V-neckline and empire waist. The Chantilly lace jacket effect was trimmed with white pearls. Her floor-length veil was attached to a floppy-brimmed hat. The gown was designed and made by Mrs. Neil Humphries.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white daisy pompons and pink rosebuds with baby's breath. Her only jewelry was a white gold Lindy star necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Karen Wilson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor for her sister. The other attendants were Mrs. Kathy Cummins, also a sister of the bride and Miss Debby Rice. Their matching gowns had pink, empire bodices, short puffed sleeves and wine red A-line skirts. The matron of honor carried a large cluster of long-stemmed pink daisy pompons, and the bridesmaids carried smaller clusters of the same.

Mike Henry served as best man for his cousin, and the ushers were Keith Guthrie and Mike Gaylord.

Mrs. Clevelle, the bride's mother, wore a floor-length gown of aqua polyester knit with long sleeves. Her corsage was of yellow daisy pompons. The groom's mother chose a long gown of mint green polyester. Her corsage was of white daisy pompons trimmed with yellow. Mrs. Tinnie Clevelle and Mrs. Wilbur Neff, grandmothers of the bride, wore white carnations tipped with pink.

For the reception in the social room of the church, the bride's table featured a three-tiered wedding cake surrounded with burgundy gladioli and white daisies with a bridal couple on the top. Mrs. Delores Scharenberg, the hostess, was assisted by Mrs. Marsha Edgington and Mrs. Sharon Haines. Miss Sherree Holloway, sister of the groom, presided at the guest book.

When the couple left for their wedding trip to Vermont and Massachusetts, the bride was wearing a coral pantsuit and the corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The new Mrs. Holloway, a graduate of Miami Trace High School, is employed at First National Bank. Her husband, also a graduate of MTHS and Cercy College, Arkansas, is employed at Dollar Savings and Loan Association in Columbus. They are now residing on St. Rt. 41-N.

School lunch workshops held for school cooks

FOOD FOR ALL TYPES OF FAMILIES

Learning new food buying and preparation skills was the topic for three groups in our county this past week. Everyone is feeling the effect of higher food prices, but it is especially hitting families with several children, the elderly, and the school lunch program.

The lunch hour at the Senior Nutrition Program at Persinger Hall was expanded to include both their regular week day participants and members of Senior Citizens. Wednesday's program began with Beulah Hill, Area Extension Agent, Home Economics stressing the importance of a balanced diet for a long healthy life. After a delicious lunch of hearty vegetable soup, peanut butter sandwiches, citrus molded salad, oatmeal cake with topping and milk provided by the Senior Nutrition Program the group readily shared shopping and food storage tips as Mrs. Hill led the discussion and demonstrated a pumpkin pudding recipe for them to try.

On Thursday, a similar program was presented for younger families. Ed Watkins, Extension Economist in Food Distribution from Ohio State University updated the group of 24 young homemakers with points on buying specials, times of the year foods are expected to be plentiful, and the price outlook based on previous years.

Since many homemakers are trying to lower their food spending by buying fewer convenience dishes and snacks, recipes were demonstrated by myself and Virginia Knauer and Lynn Bulkley of the Ohio Department of Health.

Between these two family-type food programs, Wednesday afternoon was spent on quantity preparation techniques for school lunches. The Washington Senior High School cooks hosted this final session of the three week workshop in which 48 of the cooks and supervisors of the Miami Trace Schools, Washington City Schools, and Senior Nutrition Program participated.

After viewing equipment use techniques presented by the Washington High School staff, the group discussed the importance of standardized recipes, how to use commodity foods, and how to get the parents and students to understand what is meant by a Type A lunch.

School food service is big business. At present there are over 4,000 public schools in Ohio participating in the school lunch program. Last year almost 173,000,000 Type A plate lunches were served in Ohio public schools. Of that number more than 40,000,000 or nearly 1/4 were served free or at reduced rates to needy children.

The total investment in school food services in Ohio public schools in 1972-73 was $162,997,189 - big business indeed. Sources of those funds include 62.2 per cent from payments by children and adults, 31.8 per cent from Federal contributions, and 6 per cent from State and local contributions. Much of this money flows back into local economies as wages and salaries to food service personnel and money paid for food supplies. Feeding children is the important reason for school food services, but the impact of these services go beyond the children who eat in the schools.

This workshop was held to encourage our school cooks in their efforts to provide our children with a hot nutritious, low-cost noon meal each day. Thanks to the following for their participation and to the Washington City School cooks for preparing our recognition-sharing dinner:

Bloomington: Velma Bell, Edna Brown, Bessie Allen and Mary Welsh; Chaffin: Geraldine Yeoman, Virginia Campbell and Rosy Cabbage; Eber: Edna Carman and Joan Johnson; Jasper: Mollie Garringer and Nancy Lovett; Jeffersonville: Eva Love, Mary McDonald and Virginia Pitzer;

Miami Trace shuts out Tigers

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Writer

Miami Trace moved into a two-way tie for second place in the South Central Ohio League as its defense turned in its second shutout win of the season. The victims were the Greenfield Tigers and the score was 16-0 in the Panthers' Homecoming victory.

Trace, deadlocked with Washington Court House in the SCOL, sent Greenfield home with its second league loss, enough to realistically eliminate team from any part of the 1974 SCOL crown. The Panthers are now 3-1 in league play and 6-2 overall.

The game was played, for the most part, as a ball control game with neither squad giving up or gaining much ground. However, Miami Trace broke through on two occasions to score and win the game. In the waning seconds of the game, Greenfield had a scoring opportunity but a tremendous goal line stand by Trace's defense snuffed out the threat.

The Panthers held a slight edge in the statistics. Trace gathered 12 first downs to Greenfield's eight and totalled 171 total yards to 116 for McClain. Miami Trace's yards were comprised of 128 yards on the ground and 43 aerial yards. Greenfield compiled 81 yards in the air but could manage only 35 rushing yards.

The Panthers held McClain's premier running back, Gary Barr, to his lowest output of the year. Barr garnered just 22 yards on 11 carries. The leading rusher for the Tigers was John Purdin who gathered 33 yards in only five carries.

Miami Trace had only three players touch the ball on the ground but they all out-rushed the entire Tiger team. Sophomore Rex Coe was the leading rusher for the Panthers, toting the ball six times and picking up 48 yards. The other runners were seniors Jeff Sagar and Tom Riley who gathered 45 and 35 yards, respectively.

The forward pass was not forgotten in the game but had little effect on the outcome. Greenfield quarterback Kevin Kensinger put the ball in the air 19 times but completed just eight for a total of 81 yards. Riley lofted the ball eight times and completed only three for 43 yards.

The punting game was the most evenly matched between the teams as each team punted seven times. Riley's average was 33.9 yards per punt, his longest being 53 yards. Henry Craig of Greenfield, had an average of 35.3 yards per punt, his longest being a 54 yarder.

As the game began, Greenfield had the ball twice and was forced to punt the ball away. However, after they punted it the second time, Miami Trace found themselves on the Greenfield 44-yard line. It took only two plays for the Panthers to score. A 22-yard scamper by Coe and another 22-yard jaunt by Riley gave Trace the early lead at 6-0. Sagar ran for the conversion points and the Panthers led 8-0.

The second quarter began with Greenfield punting the ball to the Panthers again. Starting at their own 25-yard-line, the Panthers marched upfield, mixing plays perfectly. Then on the 10th play of the series, something went wrong in the backfield and Riley made a pitchout to someone who wasn't there. Barr, who plays defensive end in addition to tailback, smothered the ball and gave Greenfield possession of the ball.

The remainder of the half was a see-saw battle between the 30-yard lines and at halftime, Miami Trace led 8-0.

As the second half began, the game settled into the familiar battle for possession again. Trace had the ball and was forced to punt, Greenfield had the ball and was forced to punt, and then the Panthers decided it was time for another score. Aided by a 31-yard pass from Riley to Jay Mossbarger and two 15-yard penalties against Greenfield, Miami Trace ended up on the McClain six-yard line. Riley punched the ball into the end zone again to make the score 14-0. The conversion pass from Riley to Coe was good, making the score 16-0.

The latter of the two 15-yard infractions against Greenfield was for unsportsmanlike conduct and Greenfield's Steve Scarberry was ejected from the game.

After the score, the game settled back into its groove of both teams seeking long possessions. Late in the game, though, the Tigers made their only real scoring threat. With first down and four yards to go for a touchdown, the Tigers came up six inches short and saw their SCOL title dreams go down with an 16-0 loss.

Next week, all eyes focus on Gardner Park for the game between the Panthers and the Lions. Not only are the teams arch rivals, but now they are fighting to tie with Circleville for the league crown.

The same night, Greenfield travels to Oak Hill to meet the Oaks in a non-league game. Greenfield's record is now 5-3 overall and 3-2 in the league.

FLYING TACKLE — Miami Trace's Jay Mossbarger leaps on to Kevin Kensinger to pull the Tiger quarterback down for a loss. With outstanding defensive plays such as this, the Panthers were able to contain Greenfield's attack all night.

across the goal line and Phil Roll kicked the extra point.

After Washington's drive fell inches short of a first down on Circleville's 34-yard line, the Tigers marched back up the field for another score. The 10-play, 66-yard scoring drive was culminated by a two-yard burst by Bumgarner and Roll kicked the conversion for a 14-0 lead at the half.

In the third frame, Sampsill's 34-yard return of Brown's punt set up the Tigers' first score of the second half. Six plays later, McNaughton broke off left tackle and scampered 16 yards into the endzone. With Roll's kick being successful, the Tigers led 21-0 with 8:50 remaining in the period.

The Lions were in definite need of a successful scoring drive to rekindle their hopes. Taking the ball on their own 30-yard line, the Lions drove to the Tigers' 30-yard stripe, where they were met with fourth down and six yards to go for a first down. Circleville's victory was more or less assured when Brown's fourth down pass fell incomplete.

Picking up from where Brown left off, Hoskins engineered his team in the opposite direction for another touchdown in nine plays. With Bumgarner's 21-yard run placing the ball on the Lions' 13-yard line, Sampsill took Hoskins' pitch out, scampered around right end and dove for the right corner of the endzone with just 29 seconds left in the quarter.

After Washington again failed to move the ball in the early minutes of the final stanza, Circleville regained possession in its own 37-yard line. When the Tigers' first unit took the ball to the Lions' 28-yard line, coach Larry Cook brought in his substitutes. However, the substitutes also proved to be hard to stop as they scored in seven plays on a three-yard plunge by Bill Mogan. Frank Plescia drove the final point of the game through the uprights.

In the Tigers' 67 plays, they only had

Cards to meet 'Skins

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

"I don't think we're different from any other team in the National Football League," says St. Louis Cardinals' Coach Don Coryell.

Oh, but he's wrong, of course. The Cards are very much different—and they want to stay that way. They want to remain the only unbeaten team in the league.

To do so, they've got to knock off George Allen's visiting Washington Redskins on Sunday, the halfway mark of the season.

Coryell, naturally, isn't talking about being unbeaten. He's talking about the desire every team and every coach has. "All of us desperately want to win. We will use our material the best we can."

"Maybe I take it for granted that other coaches feel the same way. George Allen has Charley Taylor. We throw to Mel Gray. We run Terry Metcalf. He has Larry Brown."

Coryell also has Jim Hart at quarterback—but it's Coryell who calls the signals, shutting in plays. Hart doesn't seem to mind that. "It's refreshing," he says. "You get a feeling of being an 'offensive' offensive team, instead of a 'defensive' offensive team."

The Cardinals already have the upper hand over Washington. They beat the Redskins 17-10 in the second weekend of action. With another victory, St. Louis would become the first National Conference East team ever to knock off the Allen-coached 'Skins twice in one year.

In Sunday's other games, it's Philadelphia at New Orleans, Chicago at Buffalo, Houston at Cincinnati, Denver at Cleveland, Green Bay at Detroit, Baltimore at Miami, Dallas at the New York Giants, Los Angeles at the New York Jets, New England at Minnesota, Kansas City at San Diego and Oakland at San Francisco. On Monday night, it's Atlanta at Pittsburgh.

The Eagles and Redskins are tied at 4-2, two games back of the Cards. Philadelphia will face the Saints' Archie Manning, restored to a starting role at quarterback after a one-week benching. Bobby Scott, who led New Orleans to its first road victory in 19 games, is back on the sidelines with a knee injury.

Carl Garrett, who rushed for 101 yards last Monday night against Green Bay, is expected to get some help with the return of Jim Harrison. Their running will counter Buffalo's, led by the NFL ground-gaining leader, O.J. Simpson. The Bills, who have run off four straight victories, also have the league's passing leader in Joe Ferguson.

The Bengals, 4-2 after last week's disheartening loss to Oakland, has had its problems with non-contenders as well. Last month, San Diego beat Cincinnati 24-20. "We always seem to be up for the big boys," said tight end Bob Trumpy, "but we sometimes tend to overlook the people we're supposed to beat." And despite a 1-5 record, Houston has been giving a lot of teams trouble.

Ali joke falls flat in practice

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — Muhammad Ali took a marshmallow left on the chin from sparmate Roy Williams and executed a graceful swan dive to the floor of the ring.

There was an audible gasp from the spectators.

Clowning Ali rose unsteadily to his feet and wobbled to his corner where he draped his sleek, brown body over the ropes and fought for breath.

It was a performance worthy of an Oscar. Theater hadn't seen the likes of it since the days of John Barrymore. "George Foreman has won the heavyweight championship of the world," Ali bellowed Friday in a ringing voice that bounced off the rafters.

"George has knocked Ali down seven times. George is leaving the ring. He has defeated the great Ali. George is the greatest of all time."

There Ali bounced quickly to his feet, did a few quick dance steps and held his arms high to the crowd.

Hardened newsmen yawned. It was just another Ali jest. Natives, relieved, cheered wildly.

Some may have recognized in this macabre scene a flash of prophecy of the possible ending of next Wednesday's world championship fight here. But not the unquenchable Ali.

That is a picture of what my critics expect," Muhammad barked from the ring. "It is only an imitation. I was only joking. It can never happen. Tell them to cheer up. No man in the world is capable of doing that in reality."

Reds release 6 players; 7 called up

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, disappointed with a second place finish in the National League West, made their first major move toward reshaping the club by releasing six players from their roster Friday.

Sold to the Chicago White Sox was pitcher Roger Nelson, the key acquisition in a trade two years ago with Kansas City. But arm troubles plagued the 30-year-old Nelson both seasons.

Pinch hitters Phil Gagliano and Andy Kosco, a part-time outfielder, were waived and three others, catcher Hal King, outfielder Roger Freed and pitcher Dick Baney, were sent to the Reds' Class AAA farm team Indianapolis.

The moves made room for seven young players, including John Vukovich, a third baseman acquired from the Milwaukee Brewers this week in exchange for pitcher Pat Osburn.

Urge credit law changes for women

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Governor's Task Force on Credit for Women Friday recommended that Ohio laws against discrimination be amended to include credit for women.

Gov. John J. Gilligan, in accepting the recommendations, noted that 75 per cent of the proposals of other task forces had been implemented either by law or by executive order.

The task force suggested that credit bureaus be forced to maintain separate files on each woman who requests it, even if she is married.

Gilligan said he was surprised to note that in one case credit had to be in the name of an unemployed husband although his wife was the only one in the family working.

"Some people need a realtor, a lawyer to get a house," one woman told the task force during hearings earlier. "I need a gynecologist."

A divorced woman said: "Much to my chagrin I found that I won custody of my children and lost custody of all of our charge accounts to help provide for them."

The statements were among those included in the report handed to Gilligan by Diane Polution, chairwoman of the task force.

The task force asked that the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio be allowed to probe discrimination against women by utilities.

Ohio Bell, she said, treats a divorced woman as a new customer—often forcing her to put up a deposit—although she may have had a phone for years in her husband's name.

In 1905 the first lighted ball slid down the pole atop what was then the new Times Building and the area became known as Times Square.

The bidding:

3♦	Pass	3♠	Pass

Opening lead — Two of hearts.

Some squeezes are planned and need considerable preparation, others happen automatically as declarer cashes his winning tricks. In between are those which come about if declarer guesses right. Regardless of the cause, all make declarer feel good and the defender feel badly.

Bruce Strickland chose the right discard on this hand played Tuesday night, making East miserable.

After North-South landed in three no trump, West led the two of hearts. East took the ace and returned a heart to the queen. West then led a third round setting up the thirteenth heart.

South surveyed his chances and saw that if either the clubs or diamonds broke 3-3, the contract was home. Since some work had to be done on the diamonds, declarer started by leading the queen.

West took the ace of diamonds (too insure capturing an honor) and cashed the last heart.

Declarer had to discard from dummy, and his choice would either guarantee his contract or doom it. As the cards were distributed, a small club was the right choice, and Strickland picked dummy's small club. Although the diamonds didn't break, East was left with the impossible task of guarding both the spade honors and the ten of diamonds.

After declarer took the club return and cashed the King of clubs, this position remained:

North	West	East
♠ K 2	♠ 8 7 6	♠ Q J 9 3
♥ J 6 4	♥ A 8 7	♥ K 10 3
♦ K 8 5 3	♦ A 4	♦ 10 9 7 6

South
♠ A 10 5 4
♥ K 10 3
♦ Q J 2
♣ A 9 3

When declarer cashed the queen of clubs, East was helpless. If she threw the ten of diamonds, dummy's diamond and the ace-king of spades would take the last three tricks. If she threw the nine of spades, it was unlikely that West could beat South's spades.

East discarded a spade, and South took the final three tricks with the ace, king and ten of spades, making three for a top score.

Had declarer thrown a small diamond from dummy on the last heart, East could have held the spades while West guarded the clubs. In that case, the squeeze would never have come about.

Sometimes a top board requires a good guess, and good players guess right more often.

Prison population jumps in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's prison population continued its steady climb the past three months, causing crowded conditions at some institutions, corrections officials report. Corrections Chief Bennett Cooper said the number of inmates in the state jumped by 390 to a total of 8,906 on Sept. 30 for an increase of 1,208 over the same time last year.

Since the start of the year, he said, Ohio's prison population has been growing at an average of 130 per month.

As a result of the latest gains, previously closed cellblocks and dormitory units have been opened at four institutions and extra beds are being added at a fifth prison, Cooper said.

Ohio's prison population had been declining steadily in recent years after hitting an alltime high of 12,024 in April 1965. Then at the start of 1974 the trend made a sharp reversal.

Why the sudden increase? Joseph Ashley, director of public information in the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction, said it has been caused partly by a "fantastic increase in the number of people coming into the institutions" coupled with a 10 per cent drop in the parole rate this year from 1973.

The jump in commitments, he said, "may reflect an increase in crime, population increases generally, the economy or a variety of other factors. In a sense, it may mean the court system may not be as lenient as some think."

Cooper said the current capacity of the state's prisons is about 10,000.

5 slain at party

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland police said a gunman opened fire with an automatic carbine at a party in an East Side home late Friday night, killing five persons and wounding three others.

Three of the victims were identified as Leola Phillips, who was celebrating her 40th birthday; her husband, Sonny, and the owner of the two-family house, James Muldrew.

The other two were not identified immediately.

Police said they were told that a man entered the suite where Muldrew was holding the party for Mrs. Phillips and following an argument opened fire with a .30-caliber automatic carbine.

"Institutions will face a severe shortage of space by the middle of 1975 if the population continues to increase at the rate recorded so far this year," he said.

To meet current crowding problems, he said, the department is preparing to transfer 225 prisoners from the Mansfield Reformatory to the Lebanon Correctional Institution.

About 280 one-man cells at the Lebanon facility are being readied for occupancy by two men each in order to accommodate the additional inmates, he said.

Holiday lottery set

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Ohio Lottery Commission is planning a special holiday game to offset an expected lag in lottery ticket sales during the Christmas and New Year's holiday period.

Lottery officials wouldn't give details at Friday's commission meeting. However, Commission Chairman David Leahy said it will be a "small adaptation of the present game."

The commission agreed to beef up its security staff with two or three persons to investigate ticket thefts and fraudulent claims for prizes.

William Horrigan, chief of security, had said he would ask for 10 persons to investigate an average of 10 cases a week of ticket theft from sales agents and about 100 fraud cases a week.

But at Friday's meeting he asked for only two or three. A commission spokesman said Horrigan intends eventually to build a larger staff.
